Machine Anger

Waleed Atta

Machine Anger; Novel Composer: Waleed Atta

First Edition
February 2009
Creator Publications
Under the license of; Oktob Publicity, Inc.
Elma'ahad El-Diny St, El-Marg, Cairo, Egypt
Telephone: 02 24405047
Cell Phone: 012 9251592
018 2363035
General Manager: Yahia Hashem
Cover Designer: Hatem Arafa
Editing and Formatting: Jailan El-Deeb

ISBN: 978-977-6297-53-1
Dar Oktob: 21048/2008

Dedicated to the whole world.....

With my wishes to the whole world to live in peace

Introduction:

Machine Anger, thrill and science fiction story about mysterious power spreading in secrecy.........

But it was on the event stage in the time........

Waleed Atta

Contents
Part One:

Chapter one

Scene not ever been seen

On Rap music, black hair was shaking on its tones and the body of the dancer looked like a worm in its speed. Her feet was hitting strongly. She was wearing jeans trousers below knees little. Its blue colour was suitable with the black T-shirt which showed her body details. Her arms going medially and laterally that she dropped by her hand one of the magazines that were scattered everywhere on the bed. She bent down to get it back to join the other cinema magazines.

She caught one and began to read its papers saying the actress birthday date and party, their marriage, problem and divorce... something like that. She walked to turn the small, high-sound recorder off for making her mind alone with magazine words, till mobile tone waves spread in the air. She immediately directed herself to silver coloured Motorola; with small buttons contain small numbers and letters mobile take effect complicated operations, screen saying girl's picture.

She replied, "Hi Margret".

Her friend replied," Hi Andy, what you doing girl?" in smooth youthful sound.

She replied. "I made my crazy rap atmosphere, now reading the weekly version of American films. why?"

Margret said enthusiastically, "I'm not busy, I've long time, I'd like to be with you talking about my boyfriend, and you refuse?"

Andy shrugged her shoulders, "I.... I not sure, okay, I'll finish it then come to you."

She closed her mobile, then went on reading, when knocking sound on the door "Enter!" young man got in after Andy's permission, man with blond hair, rounded face wearing a classic shirt and pantaloon, big glasses revealing his middle age, asking " Won't you join us for dinner?"

Andy looked at him shaking her head refusing with respect, "Sorry I have to be in Margret's home in ten minutes. Thanks James."

"Never mind my little sister." He replied.

Finally she had finished and threw it on the bed.

Andy sat on simple wooden chair facing mirror for make up, mirror reflection showed her pretty face with long night hair reaching to her shoulder, small nose and blue eyes, besides the actors pictures, she was mad of cinema fellows. She wore the black shoes being ready. The little prince was in her way to the door walking on wonderful rug, Mickey mouse picture drawn on it, getting down to the first floor from her own room, descending elegantly, " Bye Mum, Dad, James I'm going to my friend now."

Kerulen, her father, "It's ten o'clock now don't be late, weather is bad today." He began to cut a bread piece to continue dinning.

"Not ever be worry, dad trust me."

Few drops of water on the frontal car's glass, as soon as rain had begun.

She has got out, entering BMW luxuriant car. originally it is her father's driving on smooth road.

Few drops of water on the frontal car's glass. as soon as rain had begun, she turned on the water-removing magic sticks to enable her to drive. It increased and increased.

Rain was really profuse, till she was in front of her friend's house. She wore a coat against rain……She directed her face, dilating her eyes towards sky: thunder was really scary, lightening followed it immediately, Andy opened her mouth watching surprise, it was just hint when she twinkled a dog. copious fair staying among small trees in rain. directing its head towards lightening, enjoying with rain, it was actually just strange so strange scene. not ever been seen. It was recorded in Andy's memory photography. Rain increased again; she ran towards house under the electronic home-entrance umbrella then gave her missed call. She heard someone descending down fast. She opened the door quickly and pulled Andy from her hand running to her own room upwards in the second floor.

"Why you so hurry?"

"I want hitting you with pleasant news."

They both entered the room, it was just dizzy room, with study books everywhere, make-up tools were on the floor and the bed blankets were infolded; like she was asleep. Margret hardly found two seats then obliged her to sit; she released fun-full laugh and, "Guess what happened today? Come on Guess... Guess... Guess!" She was singing that word then she seemed annoyed by her look..."you, you!"

Waving her hand opposite Andy's face " You where's your attention! It is the first time for me."

She replied, "What, what you said?"

"Where's your mind, what occupying your thinking? Okey...okey" she took slight long pause, that eventually caught Andy's attention," It is the first time I had love with my first boyfriend." She laughed again.

Her friend opened her mouth and put her small hand on it and yelled, "Astonishing!!" "Really, that's why your enthusiastic voice tones on the telephone." Then she smiled "How he accepted that!" She said with a joke voice.

Margret replied her with simple kidding hit on her shoulder, after that she started to reel off in details.

Andy kept looking at her pretending being interested, while flashes of that rainy-strange sight repeating itself in her mind.

"Margi, I have only two hours then come back to home." Andy is accustomed to call her with that lovely nickname.

"No, No, No. Don't try, you must share my pleasure in order first..." she looked puzzled then and went ahead,

"Dinner I'm...." door bell rang, "On time! It is marvellous in California this service!" By her usual urgency opened the door and yelled in reasonable voice, "Pizza has come."

Hunger cut the thoughts series of Andy; "I'd like that, I hope that boy comes daily to have pizza with you."

Margret smiled on dropping these words on her ear drum, while she was preparing for dinner, putting pizza on big plate made of melamine.

"Your parents not here, Margi, they are in any country these days?"

She laughed and talked with slight sad tone, "They are big travellers, they are in Jordan now then they will travel to Egypt a week after."

Pizza was about to be vanished as they were badly hungry. Andy twinkled with an admired look to her fascinating clothes when their proprietor said," Look my dear crony, DVD waiting for us."

She took significant pause," amazing romance movie, and then browsing internet simultaneously listening to music after that watching the comedy episode of ((Friends)) then...."

Ringing Andy's mobile for a message interrupted Margi. Andy opened longingly, it was multimedia-message. She was normal on reading," I have to send you this message my net-mate." She clicked button-down, her face changed and put her hand on the long hair, and she prevented her heart from getting out from her chest. Without a word, in great speed she locked her mobile before battery empties and put it in her bag, wearing the black coat and going to leave.

"No, Andy where are you going? Don't leave me please; okay only wait till the rain ends?" She was begging her, and then she screamed. "What the hell message is that?" she was actually nervous.

"Sorry, I can't it is emergency, I wish I could stay with you, but you know circumstances that forced me to do so."

Chapter two

Not only in California

Andy rushed through the door after wearing her coat, put key in its place to turn car on, fortunately the rain intensity decreased, however road was still wet, and it is really danger to drive on wet road, Andy didn't care about anything these moments, that message must have stimulated something in her head or her life generally, in record-breaking time, she was back, she hurried to enter and going upwards to her room, the sky-blue colour walls faced her eyes.

She immediately searched for certain thing, looked around," Not DVD." She ran to the television of flat screen, searching around... besides it, till she remembered, Andy opened cupboard and got it in hand and the mobile in another hand, held the well-developed reader, and then connected the Motorola mobile with her Laptop, clicking and typing, finally she's copied the message to the small computer, it was from Maher, Egyptian chat-friend. He sent her a video; imagining it for fun but it was never.

Andy clicked on the video that was recorded by his digital camera.

The video description was," Maher finished ablution, while drops of water fell on his cat, it was white mixed with dull brown, she ran away from him. he ran forwards playing it, suddenly it entered the bathroom and threw itself into the bagnio which was filled with water and began to submerge its body and hair under water and its breath bubbles, that continued turning over in the warm bagnio one hour exactly.

Maher's comment was, "Fascinating situation and unique end."

She was watching it focusing each minute, and then she whispered like that she was directing words to Maher, "It really unique but not convenient my dear friend, it resembles that dog I've seen. There must be scientific explanation."

By her another hand sent him a message saying," I need to chat with you now even you are awake or not."

Andy kept Laptop turn on waiting Maher's e-mail activated, while she was coming and go in he room, till she noticed its activation, without compliments she set off inquiring and throwing questions............

Andy: What the hell funny you think about your cat's video?

Maher: Wait! Hey...Hey... What rudeness! (showing the small angry face!)

Andy: Sorry, but I'm completely disturbed.

Maher: Why, it is not your character, which thing made you like that, you, Andy do anything you want, when you want, where you want, hitting all blocks away.

Andy: I'm so sorry, I'll get in the hard topic, I've seen a sight like that in your video.

Maher: and so?

Andy: I don't have to say that cats for example accept death but not bear water.

Dogs also don't like rain at all and...

Maher interrupted her: That only changed your mood? Look any base has peculiarities; may my cat only like water from all world cats? May...you saw dog? May it like playing with water, it is not the big deal, sorry I'm curious, but what is browsing in your mind?

Andy: on way to my friend, I caught glimpses when lightening cleared the vision for me and found dog elevating its head, looking to the sky under profuse rain, it seemed enjoying the rain.

Maher: showed the laughing small face of the chat: all of this, just hints, I think you exaggerated something little, even it is right, it is just one, you saw all animals in the rain with that dog, I'd like you swear, Have you seen any animal or even horse that liked water in your city heavy rain, except that unaccompanied animal?

Andy: No, No but look there must be something wrong.

Maher: look at my view, my cat has normal life, eating, drinking water, playing, running, walking, sleeping like any other cat, in addition its appearance did not change, it may be the only odd thing, don't forget we are in the genetic age, hey we are in the year two thousand and fifteen, you forgot?

Andy: what do you mean with genetic?

Maher: Now, it is so simple for any scientist to change genes, or it may be auto-change (mutation I mean), Ultraviolet or infrared rays, atomic radiations or wastes all of that can cause any change in animal or human.

Andy: you might be right, any possibility could occur in this age.

Maher: Fire these idiot ideas from your mind and don't make your funny spirit cloudy, and tell me what will you do in the mid-year holiday?

Andy: I'll stay here; I have some things to finish.

Maher: I have fantastic plan. Luckily dad, you know my father is well off businessman, he will travel in work to California, and I want to visit you, if you don't mind.

Andy: It is surprise, it is the first time I'll meet you face to face instead of the webcams, when your dad will?

Maher showed the small yellow annoyed face: After exams result!

Andy: Hahaaaa, after your success, or independent on it?

Maher: It is necessary, the travel is gauged with my result, and he needs success only.

Andy: I'm confident you will do it, Oh, I'm afraid I need to sleep now.

(But it was not the real cause to say so)

Andy closed the small computer and called Margret on mobile to apologize about her sudden leave and Margret in turn accepted her apology.

She lay on her bed looking to the actors' pictures and her eyes were gleaming, her mind thinking about Maher's talk. She abruptly was excited, and her eyes were flashing more. She told herself," there is college camp in the mid-year holiday, in the forest, I will make sure, if me or you Maher, who is right."

James got in her room; she looked at him in no time, shouted in glad voice, "in your time, James, I'd like to inform you about my holiday."

James replied, "Your time is always occupied, but you are in the good way, now your age is nineteen years old, it is youth time; enjoying with every minute in your life."

She sat on the bed and stretched her legs, "come on James sit here." She referred any where as she isn't conscious and went ahead, "my Egyptian friend will come to California, and..." She stopped for a pause "and there is a trip, camping trip to a forest in California near beautiful Rocky Mountains, it will be amazing, I'd like suggest him accompanying me and my college friends."

James in quiet voice, "Yeah, that boy you recognized from chatting, it is quite joy-full and useful idea, but how will he join you, he isn't from university."

Andy replied, " Don't worry, professor organize this trip know and trust me well. I'm able to persuade him, oh...but I didn't tell him yet. I don't know he will like it or not?" Puzzles appeared on her face, but it is must for her, "Okey, I'll tell him after finishing exams. I think he will adventure."

James, "Adventure!!"

"It is adventure for him, it is the first experiment from this kind for him, and he will accept ___ he will accept." She was really optimistic.

James yawned," it is late, I go to sleep, do you need anything, dinner; have you had it?" She nodded "Yeah there with Margret."

"Okey, Good night"

"Good night."

And he closed the door after turning off the light according to Andy's request. Andy slept on slight quiet music downloaded on her Mp6.

In the next days, sun rays entered her room, waking up at ten o'clock, Andy to bathroom which was highly technical, she pressed on a button, a small gate opened to get out the teeth brush and soap, she had a shower after cleaning her teeth by signal 2 of herbs odour, by another press on other button besides the entrance, the bagnio was released form it storing place, then closed the door.

After 15 fifteen minutes, she got out wearing the pink gown which was fantastic. She combed the black hair back to its normal cute condition by hair blower and yellow hair brush, seeing herself in the mirror, putting on sport training clothes and made her morning exercises on rap music on CD-man, after that she took her MP6 in pocket which a handset connected to and set off running on the sunny walking street along all houses it was about one Kilometre away from her home, she ran away and back to family shelter roof. She bought the daily cinema magazine and geology book from the book shop where in her running tract.

She had another shower after that, sent the suggestion trip message to Maher's mobile. the date was 5 February after ending his tests by two days, Andy read her lovely cinema papers, began to read the geology book with watching films on the Laptop illustrating the mysterious information, she was called from her mother, "Come on, launch my daughter." She had it while Kerulen as he is a professor at physics, and Monika, her mother was informing them about her shopping day. It was like any other day. Monica after launch, put dishes in their cleaning machine, and cups of tea were made by tea-maker, it was a machine that has three spaces, one for tea, another for sugar, and the third for water, it mixes them according the degree one wanted, it was great device, they had their complete rest after long nap of two hours, then Andy watched her favourite comedy series in afternoon time and action movie. Then she walked to the terrace watching the magnificent twilight moment, and sank in beautiful childhood memories with her family, playing with her father, funny tricks that her brother made, her victory times, like winning in swimming champion for children, holding the gold medal, that wonderful moment, and.....tone of her mobile interrupted her memory video, it was another message from Maher, he accepted. Whispering to her self, when sun disappeared from skyline and her eyes, "sunset of good day has come." Day after day, come and go, while Andy lives good time, but still the animal rainy dog chasing her mind, she really looked puzzled; till she decided to descend down to....., however she pulled her decision, yes or no, she stood up and put her hand on cheek and started to take it logically, If she told them, they will not believe her and if they did, they will not take it as serious case, till she eventually determined that she will not tell anybody, as soon as, there is not any grim evidence, it is secret between her and Maher, it is just scene according to them.

After ten days, James was reading baseball magazine in Andy's room while she was surfing to the net, searching for certain information, opening all newspaper electronic websites, clicking on accidents department, reading the headlines then she closed the laptop. She whispered to herself as usual in inaudible voice, "You seemed right, Maher, no body injured or dead by special attack of not-wild animal, it was just imagines, Oh…dear I made big mass of nothing, and the information I had found in zoology department ensured Maher's view, genetically now, everything is possible, in laboratories any scientist can change specific gene, it is easy operation with these complicated scientific devices."

She was really angry these moments especially that day, her good mood is obscure, James felt that sensation," What's up, Andy?" "Nothing, it is just tiny thing and had gone." She determined to remove this rainy picture from her memory, and it was also easy matter.

A day after, Maher's result has come as it was expected, he is a success with a degree B, he was not in the late developed universities as he spent the universal study in a British university in Egypt by about 10000 $ per year, it was not the big deal with his father. He sent her e-mail, saying that he will come in two days, before the camp trip just two days.

A bold man, wearing black suit, and white shirt besides the black shoes, his eyes were covered with sun-glasses, holding a small black Semsonite bag, in opposite to the passport clerk, looking at the passport, his name, picture, birth date and twinkled his face for a moment, then spoke these little words with calm tone, "You Mr. Hassan." After that he held another passport, did the same, then looked to young man about eighteen to twenty years old, with smooth hair, wearing black body T-shirt with few big words in English written on it, and he was putting blue jeans trousers on, and shoes on the style, and sun-tanned skin, by the same boring voice the clerk said, "That's Maher, your son, Mr. Hassan?"

"Yes"

"Have a convenient journey, we hope you arrive in good duration, you know, it will take long time to take your precautions."

"Thanks come on Maher."

While he was watching the planes' movement in Cairo airport; it was the first fly for him. They walked in a passage, till they reached the plan door when a delicate hostess said with soft voice, "Welcome to Fly Emirates plane, a happy journey." They both smiled to reply her compliment. They sat in the first class, on great seats, air-conditioned made it more than magnificent as well as DVD films, some travellers, put something like headset, but it is for not hearing the sound around for who wants sleeping, the only sound was pilot's for any instructions. The aviator announced taking off to California State, "please, press on the red button." They did and seat belts were protecting their bodies from plane movements.

Maher enjoyed watching a thrill movie, this kind of films were the major in these days, then slept like his father. After ten hours, they have arrived at California airport, they descended down the stairs to be on American ground, Maher immediately wore a coat made of leather as it was winter and cold is discrete in these countries. They have examined their bags by laser-ray device, and got out of the exit to wide road crowded with different types of cars' models, Maher holding the small hand bag, till Hassan waved to stop a taxi, they planned to stay at five-star hotel in the middle of the Los Anglos. Mr. Hassan reached to the room that he had reserved by his credit card and Maher in turn. Hotel transported the bags through small lift, which reached 313 directly that when it was there, a small yellow lamp was lightened and gave a special tone.

While he was watching the planes' movement in Cairo airport; it was the first fly for him. They walked in a passage, till they reached the plan door

" we need to sleep, it is so long travel, look my son, I have work early in morning, I think you can not sleep, because of the time difference between Egypt and America. take these." He put few tablets in Maher's hand, "they will adapt you in a different biological hour."

Maher had his dinner took the drug and fell asleep.

In the next morning, he opened on of his eyes, when he heard sound of falling something, it seemed his father fell his spray on the floor, at 7:30 o'clock in the morning, "I'll be back at 1:00 o'clock in the afternoon, have a good time, if you want to wander out with your friends, don't forget to leave key in reception."

Maher threw his head again to the bed for taking his sleeping time.

"Hey, Maher, come on boy, wake up, it is 1:30 o'clock."

Maher had warm shower and took his clothes on after calling Andy on her mobile, "Hi, Andy, I'm here in California, I need to meet you, where I will...."

"Don't move from your place; this city is so big, I will take you to..., occasionally where you want to go?"

After brief minute thinking," shopping, is it suitable for you?"

She laughed," Any thing is suitable with me."

"I'm waiting you." Then he ended contact.

BMW luxuriant Andy's car was in front of the giant hotel gate, she gave him a missed call, and he in a moment descended by the glassy lift, to the first floor from the tenth one and he delivered the key to the reception and entered the air-conditioned car. He spent these two days before the camp trip, shopping and on the beach in the morning, in the cinema and funfair centres in the evening. Till the interesting morning come.

Andy rode the open car to the hotel where Maher staying 8:00 o'clock, he was completely ready, he descended actively down on stairs, ignoring the lift, and Andy stopped her car in front of hotel exactly. No sooner had he seen her, he jumped to the seat behind, and then she drove madly, the road was not crowded unusually, directing to the highway of California, air was hitting their faces, and clothes were being blown, she wore wide training pieces, carrying a small back-bag like Maher,

"Now I'm not from the university or the college, how I will join?"

She replied simply. "I have got permission from the manager who is responsible of he journey and trips, and he accepted it."

"Without a copy of identifying card, picture of me, or anything!! "

"No, No we don't have all these complications, simplicity with speed in the same way, I only showed them your picture to know you when you arrive."

"The second question, I don't have anything related to this kind of journey, camping not tools or instruments."

"Don't worry; we will not use much of our used and accustomed things, every thing from the nature."

The car was greatly speedy, till they both saw a big bus with two floors and collection of college students, "Here we reached!" She opened the black door of car; her feet were on ground and Maher with her.

"Hi Andy" It was voice of her colleagues and friends, she seemed too friendly. she replied the compliment. they began to whisper with themselves and looking to Maher strangely, Andy understood she presented him to her friends. "I forgot to present you. Maher from Egypt in the third year of sciences college- biochemistry." Looking to him. "Maher, they are my friends in geology department." presenting them to him.

Waiting in the road in front of cafeteria, where camp's members bought their breakfast, sandwiches and juice, till Mr. Eduardo has come. Eduardo referred to them for dividing themselves in groups, by his arm which was full with muscles, each group consisted of two, and Andy of course took Maher to be in one. Mr. Eduardo took few steps towards Maher, and looked by the same way at him "You, Maher? It is pleasure to see one of pharaohs. I'm Mr. Eduardo, Brazilian man, the supervisor of this camp."

"It is honour to see you, Mr. Eduardo."

He was muscular man with square, sun-tanned face and brown eyes, besides black hair, not very black, it was mixed with brown.

"You will do what you are used to do, but this time, we have additional program. We are going to learn how to capture animals, how to get rid of them by anyway except killing them."

He was moving his hand enumerating these elements. “The one condition, you are allowed to do so, when you are in defence position. We will make these tents over there." And he referred to place not occupied by trees or animal-shelters between a big mountain and groups of giant trees. "Come on let's get it started."

"Just watch me." She fixed a tall, hard stone in the ground by big hammer

Maher followed Andy;" I don't know how to do this."

"Just watch me." She fixed a tall, hard stone in the ground by big hammer, "search for stones like that, and then throw them powerfully to the mountain fortress wall for testing hardness." He did what was requested and brought them. After that he took the big hammer from the land, when she sat on big rock twinkling him, and her red lips were stretched smiling. Hammering them deep into the ground, when Andy brought thick rope from her bag; attaching them to the tent wedges. Its pale cloth was revealed after putting a tall strong wooden support in the centre.

It was hard work to cut a tree with axe which was the only existed, then fixing it. They have finished and started to have their breakfast that they had bought from the cafeteria.

"Which program you are used to doing?"

"We are building tents, and we have done now, secondly collecting us for talking in certain subject, we can escape from this boring meeting, consuming one hour but you feel it one day, then general wander in the camp for an hour to study the site well, I usually find, some exciting rocks, I rarely find, after that he will teach us what's new, and then camp ends at 6:00 o'clock before sunset, you will find it very fun, don't worry and you will adapt to the camping weather." in a confident voice.

"Come on, it's time for our meeting." It was Eduardo voice.

Andy told Maher," Let's escape, we will get out pretending that we still building the tent, I'll act attaching the rope and you will act as hammering the rocks, try to reveal some expressions of hard work."

They got out and did what they have dealt, till the supervisor came to their tent,

"Hurry up, Andy and Maher!"

"We haven't finished yet."

"Okay, finish and join us."

Then he went away. Andy's plan succeeded and he forgot them. They hid in tent, they were talking about their homes, and Andy talked about California and its landmarks, and then asked, "Do you like it? I hope I persuaded you in these previous days."

"Yeah America has many advantages, and Egypt has others, I'd like you visit Egypt and you will make marvellous journey, you won't regret."

They talked about risky and important subjects, like policy in the world, the general definitions, the basic ones, they were about to discuss other issues. They heard sounds of shoes on grassy ground towards them, they silenced. It was close and close; tent entrance was opened and found a sun tanned face, "You did it again, Andy!"

She got back by her back on seeing the sudden angry face of Eduardo. "You put me in great responsibility of danger what will happen when any animal got in your tent?"

Andy: "animal!"

"Wild animal; wolf, fox, tiger, snake for example, I will not blame you, Maher, you are new, but you (referred to Andy) must be ashamed." And he went by the same anger as he has entered.

She smiled after his exit, " Don't worry I do that every then he forgives me, because there is no choice, he can't punish me in the forest." "Andy..." Eduardo shouted, and she got out immediately. She entered again and Maher, both went to Eduardo. They were opposite him.

"Don't move from here, I'll collect the camp members here, don't move, otherwise you will return to your home."

All college fellows were with Andy and Maher in the general. Wandering in the site, they were also talking with each other ignoring the supervisor's words he was talking, they both were picking up any fruit they face in their way, as they the oldest in camp, it was enjoy-full. Time of news' teaching, it was capturing forest animals, the supervisor walked on his feet terminates not to make animal feel their movements, he was watching fox coming from rocky cave to the forest, walking safely, while the supervisor and students including the two naughty adults behind trunks of trees, it suddenly was trapped in an old wooden piece, sound heard above immediately, all of them looked above, like the fox did which found complicated net made of rope captivated it.

All of them shouted gladly, "It was stunning trap"

"It was the first method." He directly to other place and others followed, he referred to the ground, "There is a decoy on this area of grassy ground, covered with fronds and trees' wickers." Eduardo whispered, "Now every one quietly hide himself behind a tree". They sit including him; he was behind the nearest tree. It was about three metres away of the decoy, and caught a piece of meat from his bag and threw it exactly after it about ten centimetres, the piece of meat found a wild cat by its strong smell, coming towards it carefully, looking here and there, it seemed making sure that it was the only to be with the ready food, running towards it with complete enthusiasm, it was close till its feet fell on a false ground, falling in a hole two metres deep. It was very old intelligent idea.

In the afternoon, Maher phoned his father by his Nokia mobile, telling that he would be back at 7:00 o'clock.

They all had their nap from two to four o'clock in closed tents just small opening for breath. After the nap, Andy took her friends and Maher and had free walk in the forest; they walked along camp tents, when they saw a natural lake at the end. They swam and had magnificent time in the warm water, they have finished at 5:30 o'clock, and it was collection time for leave.

Eduardo," I hope you benefited form the camp and…you Andy will stay here for additional one hour alone in your tent after our leave."

"But it is cruel punishment, you said if I did any..."

He interrupted her at once, "It's over. You know that lake is forbidden. Anyone from those who swam will stay with you in the dark forest; I don't think that one has the courage to be with you, you will take its effect now."

Silence prevailed the turbulent atmosphere, when just few words caused great upheaval,

"I have Mr. Eduardo, and I will stay with her." Maher said firmly

"You don't have to punish yourself with me!" Andy said showing conscience reproof.

"It is not punishment, I'm not afraid of animals, you do?"

In a challenging clef and code-manner, "I don't"

He said by the same tone. This conversation stimulated the supervisor; intriguing marks appeared on his face. "After your permission, we will keep our guns." Maher said.

He nodded smiling, "Of course, you can." "However they are of no value." In inaudible sound, varmint words were taken from his mouth.

Chapter three

One hour or whole life

He walked with them to her tent and a lock in his right hand, till they reached. Maher and his friend took the last look to the high giant trees that blocked moon light, they got in the tent, and the supervisor locked it outside.

"You have all your tools, right?"

"Yeah, yeah"

"So, give me the knife."

"Why you want it?" she replied.

"Just give it to me."

"I'll..."

"No, it will not be helpful, the knife will slip on the tent's material made of, take this, and I've kept it for emergency."

She was searching in her bag. "Here it is!" she handed it to Maher.

"What is it?! A hair cut machine!" Maher looked to her strangely.

"it seemed like that, James uses it also in cases like that, press on this green button," He did and small wheel with deep sharp steel projections, "Press it again." It was rolling, he put it on the tent's cloth, it was so good, it caused small narrow cut that can be widened by the knife, he was staring deeply outside the tent, abruptly his vocal cords powerfully screamed.

The scream echoes spread in the air, when reached to students` ears , a fear wave invaded their hearts,

"I'm going there to save them and get them back, I'll close the bus now, do not ever exit, whatever happens the bus is safe."

He did it and ran through the forest trees avoiding the plant ropes till he has arrived to their place.

"Why you screamed like that!" said in fitful voice, and tremors of her hands were clear.

"I thought I saw eye was looking towards me, and then disappeared." Maher immediately sat beside her on tent side, which was locked outside. She heard step sounds near to them; they were like those in the morning, when they escaped from the meeting.

"It must be him, I was sure that he decided from his heart behind."

Eduardo unlocked the tent on frogs` bad music, "Come get out!" he said kindly.

"Thank you, very much, Mr. Eduardo" she was about to cry and threw herself in a hug.

Maher looked to Andy between his arms, and his face changed at all, watching the real origin of this man. His hair has gone and... electrical sparks instead, his shirt sleeves were cut when his arms were covered with something like armour of crocodile, brown eyes were replaced with red laser colour and his pantaloon had the same destination of shirts` sleeves, his leg's syllables with metal tanks, it seemed for fuel. Andy did not feel with any thing, till she said, "What is that metal wall?" She touched Eduardo's body, as soon as she looked up to his face, she fainted and fell in front of him, the surprise was so strong on Maher that he didn't know what he would do, just gazing at him only.

"I'm going there to save them and get them back, I'll close the bus now, do not ever exit, whatever happens the bus is safe."

He took few steps and held him by his hand, which was the only thing that stayed from his human body, he lifted him high so easily, that moment Maher felt himself dead, by the other hand, he threw him away that his head was dropped on the ground and lost his consciousness. He was back to Andy and lifted her up by the same way. By slight hits from his powerful hand, he woke her up; he opened his mouth when Andy saw transistors in this dark mouth, "What are you thinking yourself?" he shouted strongly, "I built my plan cleverly, why do you think I put all of you, in this site especially between mountains and the giant woods?!" In low voice to his prey, he looked to Maher for a while, then returned to look at her by his miserable face, by the same low voice," you know ,I realize that you will exceed the camp laws, but I've chosen the right time, the right situation." He referred by his index finger to her wet face with scare tears, "My lady you fell in my hand." He mugged suddenly, and retuned his arm back and shooting it into her heart exactly. His hand was followed by the crocodile arm that penetrated her chest. She felt nothing at all, when he made his crime. He lifted her on his iron shoulder, through forest trees till they were not seen anymore and disappeared in the dark. Few minutes later, Maher recovered from unconsciousness, he ran to the tent looking for his lost friend, he was only able to see foot print of big man, it must be of Eduardo.

"Where are you, Andy? I will not leave, as soon as you are not with me." He looked east, west, north and south, he did not even hear her sound, screaming, yelling, "Where is she?! He must have killed her, my dear!!" he was talking to himself so sadly, "But, I can't find blood of even injury. It is not sure, she may have run also, she….." He heard sound, like a group of army was in military Marche. Maher on his toes extremities walked to the sound source carefully, and he hid himself behind a tree trunk, and turned his eyes to the origin of the raising sound, Hardly had he seen then, he kept his eyes and mouth opened, they were herd of different animals, devouring and tame, running with unbelievable speed to one direction, the direction to…to the camp bus.

It contained enemies to each other, in other meaning, these animals hate each other, attacks themselves for food, that's the normal, but in this herd, this base is completely obscure. Dust clouds followed their running legs. Maher was hesitated, will he save himself, or search, or report the students. Finally, he has decided to be in his position behind the tree to wait his fate.

Tiger was in the front, and wolves, foxes, dogs, cats, rabbits even rats were in their way to their dinner.

Tiger was in the front

In the bus students were little scared, when they heard Maher's scream, besides that they were worry, why Eduardo was late, they did not know anything outside the bus. Robert and Fiby the close Andy's friends,

Fiby; "It is not his usual to punish her like that." Robert moved his neck and directed his face to the closed window, "No, it is …" he stopped talking; he held her head and directed it to look from the window,

"Aaaaaaa!" It was Fiby scream,

"Hey, look from window." Robert yelled in the bus. They all did,

"Come on, open the door!" One of them said quickly.

"Eduardo took the remote-control with him." Another replied.

Robert directed to the driving seat," Key is not here; he took the key with him also."

"Where is this dirty Eduardo?" Fiby screamed.

"No time for talking, everyone tries to break the window glass; they are closed automatically with door closure."

"No, it is not right, everyone stays at bus they can not penetrate it, it is well-protected, everyone get his gun and make it in ready position for shooting."

It was the best idea, and the more realistic of one student in Geology department with Andy in university. "Don't worry" he bent his head to see them, "They are not a lot, some of them are wild, die with one gun bullet in his head, remember their heads, and the rest of them are cats, rabbits and….rats?! How they are collected?? It doesn't matter."

They are not a lot, some of them are wild, die with one gun bullet in his head, remember their heads, and the rest of them are cats, rabbits and….rats?! How they are collected??

"Oh, they are around the bus, we are under siege." a girl said.

Another girl said wisely, "How we didn't hear them? Their number is not few, I think the bus is isolated from sound outside by these rubber black vertical at the lower door end."

"Where are you, the responsible supervisor?" Fiby said scoff.

"Over there smiling to us." Robert said these words that make all bus looking to him, he saw him with the amplifier glasses. He saw his normal face.

Sudden wood glass breaking sound killed the silence. Pieces of broken glass scattered in the bus, and they managed to avoid difficult injuries, the silence returned back, till they have heard scrabbling sound, animals were fixing their legs by hammering the bus steel by their hooves, it was unbelievable, while students were waiting their appearance from window, they made themselves in two rows, one's back on the another's back; lifting their guns, mice were the first to reach,

"Don't waste your bullets; hit these mice with your feet." Robert shouted. They spread themselves like beetles; they kicked them by legs.

"Aaaa!" it was a pain of Fiby, it was followed by others pain,

"They are solid, shoot them!" Robert shouted; the leader ordered, they were shooting them, some mice; they ran in marvellous speed and exchanged their positions continually, they did not give up,

"Everyone shoot a certain mouse to overcome their speed, make your eyes to only one."

Sounds of gun bullets were continuous, and mixed with bullets reflection from the steel special sound, they were unbeatable.

Eduardo was hearing all of this, he got out the remote control and opened the vehicle door, students began to direct in confused way to bus-entrance, but rats still in their places. They wanted to escape from just rats, have normal appearance but not the same properties, not frightened, unexpected velocity; steel bodies against gun shots, guns have no value.

They were about to run away, but the rest of herd had an opposite opinion.

mice were the first to reach,

They have rushed over them, causing deep injuries, the wolf hooves, infixed the bodies' skin and cutting it from the bone inside. The blood drops splashed on the bus steel. "Ahhhhhhhhh" pain loud voices prevailed in the empty space, the echoes reflected on the mountain. Mice were biting them, and small skin pieces were submerged in blood.

Students were running away getting out of the death-bus, so quickly that only their spectrum was noticed, and they were about to jump from the bus and disappear among dark-forest monsters. Wolves, wild cats, foxes did the rest of the murder. Each miracle animal to each, attacked, the scene was obvious of one of the wolves, that put one's arm between its jaws and trailed him to the bus behind and stood on him, the hind limbs were on his thighs and one of forelimbs fixed his neck and with the other one pushing his head away, to separate it from his body. Foxes were destroying their trunks, while rabbits and cats were eating separated arms and legs.

Their mission was accomplished leaving a blood-pool in the bus, and their dirty bodies were painted by their honoured blood.

Eduardo carried out the plan, perfectly; he acted the role of professional spy, but to just animals. It was really extremely strange. How he changed his human body? It was so mysterious. How this murder has been done? Many questions have no answers.

Maher was timbering in his place, his heart seemed; it was not in its place. He suddenly looked at the tent, something ringing, it was his mobile, he walked in slow steps to Andy's previous shelter, he was expecting Eduardo to come towards at any moment, he got in safely, and took his bag with him out of the tent, it was James, "Hi, Maher, why you are late?"

He replied, "I hope only return back with my life." In discontinuous voice

"You won't!!" a rough voice behind him. He threw it all, James at home looked scared. Maher ran away from him, but he put his solid foot in his way, Eduardo managed to make him on the ground, and walked to him by heavy trusted steps, and lifted him by only one hand. Maher put the gun opening towards his face, the sparks were jumping on his head, he laughed by evil manner, "I want you shoot me, now, do it, do it!"

"I will do it now." Said it and hatred was covered on his words. Continuous gun shots sound, he emptied it, and smoke, followed the bullets, he found himself in front of face, had slender iron cavities behind its skin, he was holding each bullet like peanuts.

"I told you shot me, guns nowadays from this moment, only kill, but not men like me or animals. All animals you saw it, cut your friends into tiny pieces on their fleshes."

"Where's Andy?" Maher asked in a challenging tone.

"Who cares? One must be killed like those over there, like you, for example."

"I will not die by your dirty hand."

Maher held the gun with its tube; he hit his right red laser eye. It was smart attack; Eduardo put his hands on the injured eye and fell the remote control on the ground, Maher involuntarily, held it and ran away. Animals were still in the round, they have noticed him, running after him, they were close and close, till the tiger was about one meter near to him, when rat managed to bit him, he forgot sense of pain, and went on, like that nothing happened when he heard engine of a big car, light from it penetrated the darkness and re-saved Maher's hope, he managed to recognize it, it was the camp bus, and blood drops falling from it to the ground, he was in the same direction of the fast bus, the black tiger opened his mouth, Maher increased his gear maximally , the bus got close to him, it can't stop, it was parallel to him, about half a meter close to him, the driver got close again, so near, like the black tiger, it opened its mouth to Maher's leg, which jumped onto the bus, by the same way catching it in crowded Cairo, and it closed its Jaws on the air, it failed and the Egyptian boy did it!

It was James who saved him, he got into the bus, but as a sequence to his speed, he slide on the bloody bus floor, and fell on it before shouting, "What all this blood?"

"Absolutely, I don't know, and I don't want right now? Don't look behind you" Maher got a hint backwards, he gasped, and he found himself among pieces of bodies submerged by blood.

"Is all that because of just animals?" James asked.

"I don't think that they are just animals, they must have something special, I don't know."

"Where is my sister, Maher? I don't want lying on me, tell me the expected truth."

"I really have no idea, I left her...., look in the reflecting mirror." Maher said speedily, James did so,

"Oh tiger is so close, and it is the maximum speed of that bus, it is closer... Oh! What I should do now?"

Maher took his careful step on the viscous blood, and closed the bus door, by his muscles, "It is safer, thanks..." he was about to finish his word, when bus door, small glass was broken ,however it is still safe, the bus is closed, the black tiger was still running after them, it was magnificent velocity to run at speed about 180 Km/hour the same gear of bus, it was also crazy to drive at that speed, but circumstances obliged them to do so.

Maher suddenly had a sight of black thing flying in the air, it seemed a ghost. He might have imagined it of his high degree of fear, but it wasn't, it was real.

Claws were so fixed, and something hard was hitting the bus outside, it was the black animal.

Maher held a steel stick covered with the red liquid and hit its claws powerfully but it didn't work, the stick was broken from the first hit, that was unbelievable, James shouted after he saw it on the mirror,

"Come on beside me away of the door, and bend down."

"Why?"

"Don't argue!" he walked slowly not to fall again, his clothes were coloured with red, they were beside each other, bending down, while James was driving through the trees spectrum, while his accompanying friend, looking to the large mirror by his eye seeing the tiger was swaging and hitting sound got louder and louder, till the herd leader flew into the bus, at high level, from bus floor, so stretching his limbs, that any one was stand-up, he would be hit, danger came back.

"There must be risk, and I'll do it." James said in revenge way. The tiger was sliding on the blood, not able to run well as on dry ground, but it gets little closer, the bus reached the high way, "Hold yourself well!" He pressed on safe belt button; automatically it was worn, "Still in your place and hold well that tall besides you."

It was near them, opening his dark mouth, and howling, while his legs were not fixed.

From break neck speed to Zero, when James pressed by his hand on large green button to stop the vehicle.

The animal was beaten by human's brain. The black tiger from top gear, as it took bus speed to nothing, it flew to back of the bus.

He had to turn it on again, by the maximum velocity, while the black ghost was recovering its equilibrium, it was so difficult on viscous steel floor, it tried to reach to them again, but James took his brilliant idea effect again, the same situation happened another time.

"You will drive like that to the morning, must get out of this bus." Maher said, and his eyes fissures were narrow from air entering the bus through the broken glass.

"Jump from the door, it can't control its power now." He shouted.

"Okey, stop it and I will." Maher yelled.

"No jump while bus running, it is the only method to survive, jump on the same direction of the bus." James said grimly,

Maher took a look at the mirror, there wasn't anyone behind, on both sides. he was watching the black tiger, it was stable on irony bus passage, it was fixing its legs by penetrating them into iron, and got them off. It was not quick walk, but it has overcame the problem, it was really effective, he took deep inspiration, and directed fast to the door, opened it, the tiger was close to James driving seat few meters away from him, he lost Andy, and he wouldn't do the same, he closed his eyes, air rockets facing him and jumped, his heart beats increasing, he rolled on the road about five meters, he had superficial injuries and his cheek had deep injury, however he was intact. Looking longingly at the bus door waiting for his deliverer, it was long time, while he was on the other side of high way, when he saw him rolling on the ground after violent jump, he felt on his arm which was broken at once, followed by loud pain scream, he was nine meters after him, and bus was without a driver, running on the road itself.

Maher Hassan ran to James who was releasing painful shouts, "my arm was broken."

"Get up now, we must escape from that hell! Bear the pain."

Bus had only the extraordinary animal, it was directing to the jungle carrying the animal away.

Unfortunately it refused to leave them, it jumped elegantly out of it, a Ferrari car was filled with drunk young boys driving unconsciously towards them, and the black tiger was able to positioning them, running towards them at the same time, the speedy car behind them, and Maher besides James in a straight small row consisted of only these two persons,

"Where are my glasses?" James said.

Maher in so rapid voice, "Jump when I say jump!"

Howling of the tiger and car's engines' sound in the same time, none of them seeing each other.

"Jump!" Maher shouted.

He jumped beside on his left arm, and James jumped on his intact arm, the right one, in the same time. The black tiger was in front of the Ferrari lightened lanterns; it crushed the car front, which was damaged by the strong tiger's hit. Maher and his life-saver jumped into the Ferrari, and took the frontal seats besides the young boys who recovered a portion of consciousness.

James quickly held a gun and menaced the driver, "Turn round now, or you will be dead by that gun or that black animal." He referred to the animal, the young boy did it at once, that time! It stilled in its place, looking at them by its lustrous eyes, till they have been absent from its vision field. James put the gun in his socks again in its place, "You, boy don't ever go to anywhere in that highway, otherwise it will be your final destination." He got off the car with Maher to Andy's home, and battle marks appeared in their faces and injuries. Maher got his whole life and passed death hour, but Andy, her fate is still unknown.

Chapter Four

Mystery clouds in police station

Monika, the mother was outside the hall, besides the wooden white door, looking left and right searching for BMW car and each car was coming, she thought it was her daughter's carrying her brother.

With each one running on the road with high velocity, her heart was flying hoping that they have come. While Kerulen was in the hall receiving Mr. Hassan's calls, Maher's father had the same petty feelings of fear on his kid

"No, he has not come yet, nor Andy, nor James." Mr. Kerulen said.

"He had told me that he will return to your home! Why all that lateness? I......" when car's engine stopped,

"I hope he has come, now, wait on phone, I will come back now."

He ran outside after his heart, and opened the door, when his face tasted smiling after long time waiting time, but he was surprised.

He looked at his son and Maher, behind them searching for his daughter, "Where is Andy?" and did not care with his crying wife and their injuries, he asked a question, and wanted certain answer and he was afraid to hear the another one, he repeated it again among the dark garden, shouting in the quiet street. His voice changed when it was mixed with crying start, "Where is my daughter?" and his eyes were filled with tears, when one escaped to run on his cheek. They both were looking to the ground, what they would say. They walked quickly towards the door, but he held Maher's arm, "Don't leave me like that, why she didn't come with you?" James heard Maher's heart beats.

"Dad, we have to enter first, you will wake the neighbours, it is..."

"I don't care, even all America wakes up, I need one answer now, where is my baby?" He was really weak, and his strength was clapped by Maher's words,

"We have not found her yet." He kidnapped these letters quickly.

"What??!" His hand fell from Maher's arm, who entered the home to escape from this hard reaction, his neck was lowered; this situation can not be described. He felt that he was responsible for her loss, he felt conscience remorse.

"Alo, Alo..." was a shouting voice on the phone. Maher walked heavily to it, and handed the telephone handset.

"Alo, who's calling?" His words were the water drops to replant his father's life.

"My dear son, are you okey? Are you?"

"Yeah dad, I'll come now."

"Don't move from your place, I've hardly found you, I will fly to you by taxi...wait is Andy with you?"

"Come dad, and I will tell you every thing, bye bye."

It was sad and glad voice in the same time. He thought that he would see his parents again and sad due to the loss of his friend and being in situation like that facing her father and mother. They would upload every thing on him, but they had their excuse. They lost their daughter.

It was difficult equation for James, he was really in boiling water, he was so sad on his sister and had to tell them these bad news, he was looking to the door, when he entered, and his parents followed his steps. Tears did not leave their eyes.

"Thanks to God we are in front of you, it was miracle when we survived." His father looked to his injuries,

"I'm sorry my son, it is shock for me thinking of her loss." His voice was greatly reproved.

Another car stopped in front of the house, Mr. Hassan entered the hall when his son opened the door. He hugged him at once and kissed his head, and cheeks. Maher felt his wet eyes. He gave him a hint considering Mr. Kerulen's feelings, he felt that, he directed to James, "What happened? Where is the supervisor, give me his mobile number?"

"No, don't ever! I will tell you what the cause of that appearance was." And he referred to his cut shirt and his dirty pantaloon.

"Tell us my son we will not cry on the spilt milk."

He detailed his risky saving injury from reaching the forest till he was back to home. "I entered the forest through the giant trees, holding my laser torch, which made it completely seen. I saw the school bus, when I noticed blood near it, the scene was horrible." He put his hand on eyes, he seemed did not want to remember it again, he went on after slight long pause. "In this moment I was sure that my sister has gone and..."

"Not true! Andy was in the tent, I accompanied her, the supervisor was a different creature, it was human in appearance, but it is not at all, he pushed me so powerful hit, then I fainted, but when I recovered my consciousness, I didn't find him or her, they both disappeared, after that..."

"What?!" Monika said.

"I watched herd of different animals, enemies and friends directing to the bus in organized movements, I think they were the cause of the students' slaughter."

"Slaughter!!" Mr. Hassan, Kerulen and his wife gasped in one voice.

"Yeah, it was miserable; it was filled with body scraps and a pool of blood." James said. "Then I drove it by touching two uncovered wires, I worked the bus engine I heard that time crying, shouting voice something like that, I directed towards the voice source hoping it is my sister, I was driving and driving till I found Maher running to catch it, then Maher continued till the end."

"Andy is disappeared, but not lost, you must have hope, even little, and we will call police in the morning and search for her and report about the accident." Mr. Hassan said. They were wise words from wise man.

But Andy, if not killed what's the other possibility? Why Andy to be chosen by Eduardo? And what is this strange attack, and what is the relation between Eduardo and the animals? Does he work for them, or the contrast? Many questions wandering in Maher's mind and answers are absent.

No eyes were closed in this night; the American house lights were turned on, as a star in the clear sky, carried smell of life.

Under the same sky, there is a sad house and a glad house, it is life philosophy.

Stars number was intense above the forest. The water pool, where previous Andy and her previous friends were, was surrounded by wolves, foxes, and tigers sitting on their forelimbs supporting on their hind limbs, lifting their heads towards the dark sky, and the dirty Eduardo was on his knees, he kneeled down to the animals, it was strange sight for a human as in appearance to do so, till the black tiger reached, it ran towards him and got close and close to his face, then stopped and set on ground like the others.

Eduardo lifted his head little, it seamed that he heard, something from that black animal, he seemed worshipping these creatures, then nodded with his head, and ran towards a giant tree, then looked up and up to see legs of a human hanged down, had style shoes in feet, and short trousers, up to a blouse partially covered with black hair, coming's from Andy's head. Her eyes were closed and leaned on tree trunk; her position was not the grim to decline her fate. She opened her eyes on tree's shaken trunk by powerful hits from Eduardo's arm. She looked around and found herself lonely on high tree, under moonlight which was reflected by forest palm fronds, and mountain looked like the monster looking to the jungle and small cloud covered the moon temporarily.

Andy was really in strange world, she was in place did not remember what was, she was unable to remember her name, address, anything like her memory had been vanished, she found herself descending the tree easily, although it was the first time for her, she climbed down about eleven meters high. She was in front of Eduardo for the second time, he entered his arm again to pierce her body from chest to back, in heart's site, it left his arm inside her body, and then released it again, and she fainted again. After that he went to the black tiger and kneeled as usual, he seemed that he was there to report the frightening black tiger with shiny eyes that he had done what he was ordered. It was actually great upheaval after complete human control on animal, to the opposite.

The herd ran away and disappeared in the forest with their worshipper. Andy remembered every thing again but the time when she was attacked by Eduardo. She looked around and thrill feeling was back to her heart, it was the darkest time in her life. She hid into a rocky cave and slept.

She suddenly was awake on the helicopter sound, she stood up and took the piece of cloth, she was sleeping on outside the cave among trees, and sun rays penetrated them through narrow spaces in between their leaves running towards the sound source, looking upwards, avoiding the blocks in the jungle, her feet were on the dry leaves releasing that characteristic sound, when she knew how to save herself.

She collected some branches and put them crossing one on one and got out a box of matches from her pocket, and fired one, it was put out, "Come on... Come on." She was successful in the second time and fired the tree branches, after that waved the fire by a palm frond, to make smoke ascends upwards to be seen.

"Colonel, I think I've found her, over." It was the helicopter pilot voice.

Andy was catching on the rope ladder of the helicopter, in the air watching around sunny nature, that was few hours past the same darkness.

Helicopter powerful engines were still operating the huge fans, till Andy's feet were on ground. As soon as she had been on the silt land, she found herself among her mother's arms. Mrs. Kerulen hugged her strongly the same as her feelings.

"Andy, Andy, I've found my heart." her voice was clearly reproved, she was crying, she thought that moment would not come but in her dreams.

"Please don't do this to us again, please my daughter." She found her suddenly took a side, her father seemed that he did so, like saying it's enough for you,

"Finally, I met you again, I was waiting and waiting, every minute took a year, Andy." Mr. Kerulen said,

But Andy still felt expatiation. James hug had no role to get her usual spirit again, she seemed that she was in another world, however, she silenced to Maher's words, "Andy, now my conscience is convenient on seeing you."

They all collected around her including young white man with fair hair,

"Come on it's better to return her back to home again to recover her health, then we will ask her about accident." That man said.

"Okey, Officer Jones." Her father said and his arm on his daughter's shoulder, going to BMW car, with Maher and his father to the American home.

Her parents accompanied her from entrance to the room in the second floor; she entered it and took a look to the walls, devices, like it's the first time to see them, and lay on bed, then felt asleep without music as usual.

"Monika, we must go to the funeral for the dead poor students, it is really a catastrophe, California, No...No.... America will stand on one leg, and all details depend on Maher besides my daughter, they are carrying so big responsibility, on their shoulders."

"It is 4:30 in the afternoon; we can sleep after this tiring night really tranquil mind is gift from God, we were lucky to have two sons back to our hearts."

Behind glassy wall, one was looking to flying movements in Los Anglos airport, and the passport clerk was looking and detecting the small green travelling booklet, he was in front of strong man, with blue shirt and black pantaloon combing his frizzle hair by his fingers,

"Happy journey, Mr. Stankovic." Eduardo smiled to him and got the forged passport, after that he read the false name "Tony Stankovic", Nationality Russian, he directed to the plane which would fly to China. The aeroplane took off with the professional criminal on board.

"I did my mission successfully, after one week maximally, I will see the slaughter in the small screen, I've announced about it to my agents in all world, it will never be secret, if police tried, citizens will not allow that, it was a brilliant idea to leave, this who called Andy and those humans, Maher and...that one, whatever, to leave them away to enhance the accident news advertising." He was whispering to himself, it was his habit when he was thinking or wandering ideas in his mind.

Walking among giant trees, dense smoke of fire covered the vision field in front of a black dog, seeing left, another dog, right another black one, on each side around her, then rain started to fall on their bodies, thunder claps descend to their heads, she gasped, "They didn't die!" jumping towards, "Aaaa" loud scream, Andy woke up, "What a nightmare!" she said, and her breath was really quick. Door knocks were heard, she looked to it in a frightened way and got back watching the door handle moving, thrill increased, till it was opened, "Oh, it's you James, get in."

"How are you, my dear sister?"

"I'm fine" she replied, but it seemed not. Sweating, and breathing quickly were not the honest marks on her answer.

"Don't lie, tell me the truth." James required.

"Okey, I've already had miserable nightmare." She said.

"I must call a doctor." And he was about to leave.

"James, don't leave me alone."

He smiled and hugged her, "Be confident I will not leave you alone, I'm always with you."

He called the doctor, "Please come, we can't go to the hospital." and he stopped for a pause then continued, "Thank you doctor. We are waiting you."

After half an hour, he came and gave him the necessary drugs after talking with him in low voice,

" These drugs will make her more quiet, she seemed that she was exposed to sad news, something like that, but she will sleep deeply as side effects of the medical course."

He handed him the paper containing the drugs' names. James accompanied the doctor outwards and brought the medicine, after that he gave it to Andy,

"Where is my dad?" She asked,

"He's with mother to... I don't know; don't care" She yawned, "I will let you sleep now, bye bye!" said James. He closed the room lights,

"No, No keep them turned on." He did so and left the room

At 9:00 o'clock in the morning, she woke up without alarm clock or sunlight, at this time exactly, absolutely due to the drug she had. Silence, pleasure and fear appeared on each family member,

"Dad, do you think she will return to the previous Andy? Yesterday, she was another one, I don't know." Said the learned young man.

"Don't worry, it is just temporary shock, she will recover as soon."

"I hope so." His wife said.

They heard sound of knocking the stairs, their face features have changed on the moment she said "Hi, Dad, Mum, James."

Mr. Kerulen pretended normally replying, "Good morning, Andy" and winked to the rest to do the same,

"I'm so hungry; I haven't eaten yet from that day before." She sat on the chair, and began to eat, Monika was so delighted and went on eating, acting so. By stolen looks to her baby. It seemed she was better; her psychological condition has been elevated. That day had good beginning of that breakfast.

Maher visited her in the same time of Margret's come. They both elevated her mood again, after knowing each other, it was the real time, for the real friends, forgetting risky adventure was in its way, however it is not demanded. On laughing voices of Mr. Kerulen and his family, besides Maher and Margi, watching a funny film, when Maher's mobile rang, "Yes Dad, I will stay here in Andy's home, before going to the police station in the morning."

"Okey, I'll be waiting there for you."

"Good, I need you there, it is the first time to be questioned from police, and it is the American police."

After one hour, it was the end of film, "look my daughter, tomorrow, you will be asked simple questions, about... about...the camp trip, and what happened there." He was hesitated in saying these words, he did not want her to remember these events, she hardly did it after his help to treat her normally and not feeling a special manner like kindness, actually there were, but behind his chest.

Under the sun of the second day, Andy with her father trying to calm her down, Maher also was looking to the ground, fixing himself, the modern car moved to the police station. They entered and saw the real sense of losing the one's son. Their fathers and mothers were looking to her and Maher, like watching the responsible criminals. They thought that this girl did her role well in this slaughter, absolutely they were in horrible case that allows them to perceive in any mad way. They both entered the office after taking wide steps, escaping from those difficult looks.

They both entered the luxuriant office, and found Officer Jones in half sitting position, talking, "Yes colonel, they are in front of me now, I'll turn on the device." He ended the call, and then pressed on black button, and small red light was turned on, it was device like the telephone, but with out headset, it had numbers, and longitudinal narrow spaces.

"Hi Maher, welcome back Andy" It was Jones greeting, and in turn they replied it.

"Before two days from this date, powerful slaughter took place, and you only were the survivors, I need you as witness, you are away of accusing circle, after analyzing and examining the dead bodies, they died of wild attack, but who attacked? We want to know that from you?"

Maher was startled, but he was the first to be asked.

"You and Andy were supposed to return back before sunset, why you stayed after darkness tenting in the forest?"

"The supervisor, he punished Andy due to swimming in a lake." Maher said.

"And then?"

"The punishment was lateness an hour in dark forest."

"Okey" he murmured in unclear voice, "Can you give me his description? He is Eduardo, right?"

Maher answered after informing the officer of his remarkable features.

"You know Andy, No one with these descriptions called Eduardo at all, but I am sure of him, not contradicting me, then what happened after taking punishment effect or during it?"

"I don't remember that he punished us at all, he was so kind with us." Andy replied steadily. Her father, Officer Jones were longingly hearing the events in details for the first time.

"Andy, you don't remember, when we trying to escape from the tent by that machine..."

"I don't remember that."

Officer finally, straightened his setting position on asking, "What do you remember about the camp trip, Andy?" "It was normal camp day, the only strange thing that I woke in a cave the next day, before the helicopter to get me back home."

"Only that you remember!" He exclaimed in loud voice, he looked to her, then to the device and directed his face to Maher.

"I'll ask you, Maher and don't tell me the same words, that your friend said, I will inquest her later."

Maher spoke till stopped at Andy's duty point that Officer Jones looked serious and anger features began to protrude on his face.

"Go on Andy."

"I don't know officer."

"Come on Andy, what happened? This answer is the entrance to work out this mysterious event." Maher said begging her.

"Believe me I don't remember anything."

He shouted to her losing his quietness," Andy, you now are in a big problem."

Maher followed him," Try, just try."

"NO, NO, NO, I can't." Her voice changed as defense position.

Mr. Kerulen looked to both of them, throwing their statements to his daughter increasing the inside combat and pressure,

"Officer Jones, Maher please stop, there is not a purpose for her to hide the truth."

"Mr. Kerulen, you saw people out of the office, they are parents of their lost sons that you thought for just moments will be one of them, and you know what I mean. A slaughter like this will lead to miserable results that reach to shaking Mr. President. For example, all these attendants will make very effective demonstration and they will gain a lot of hearts besides them, all of that will stop in one answer."

"Officer Jones, I'm helpful with you from the first step, and if I know, I will not hesitate to tell you."

"Okey, okey, I'll ask you questions just say yes or no."

"At your service Officer." A quiet reply.

"Maher said that he had been hit that day from who is called Eduardo, and left him with you alone in the dark forest, with this awful descriptions, there is just two possibilities, you died and this is impossible, you are in front of me, and the second that he injured you and this only was avoided after complete search in the site, supposed to be, No blood or injury appear on you, so he let you alive for unknown reason, and why he choose you to be made just a complicated question"

"I don't know."

Maher said, "Officer, I think that man is connected with animals attack on the bus, when you look to the consequence of events, he avoided us far from the bus, then pretended to save us after hearing our loud screams, he separated me from the time attack on Andy, to do his part of plan secretly, only him knowing that, and simultaneously he separated the students' bus away with the herd of animals, as you told me. In my opinion during my defense against him, these animals made his murder duty, and during unconsciousness, he affected his plan part with Andy, but what is that? I think, that he is the only man to know, even Andy can not remember, like this tape of events was removed from her memory, and the obvious evidence, that she remember every thing except that." Maher stopped illustrating his theory explanation.

"Possible logical opinion, and I think you are right after our information's source told us there was not any school or university organized a camp in this forest and it is a big possibility that Eduardo created all that, but not sure, by evidences not sure." He took regretting sigh then continued, "FBI, after mortem has proved that murder of camp students had occurred by unknown."

"The colonel needs you come to his office after finishing the report."

"Soldier, come here accompany Mr. Kerulen and his family besides Mr. Hassan and his son to the colonel office." Officer Jones ordered.

"Yes sir." And they have left the office.

"The colonel needs you come to his office after finishing the report."

The soldier got in and told him that they were outside after greeting his boss "Let them in."

They entered and sat down on soft sofa away of the expensive disk "Well I heard every thing in Jones's office, and I was astonished from your answers, Andy." He stopped for a pause then, "I need one of you come with me and the police force to this place to help us in our task."

"Why?" Mr. Hassan asked.

"To show us events locations exactly."

No one answered, till Mr. Kerulen replied, "Andy is impossible, because she was in terrible condition when she came back and we hardly calmed her down."

"And James?"

"Only drove a car to save Maher and my sister, I can't help you find the animals hide place."

"So you Maher are ready to go...?!" the colonel stopped he saw Maher shaking his head refusing,

"Colonel after that terrible journey we will travel to our home, to Egypt and if we will be late, I will not risk with my boy twice." Mr. Hassan said.

"Okey, no problem, thanks for your come, you can go now."

"Thanks, colonel."

"Officer Jones, make fifty soldiers ready for the forest task tomorrow morning, you will accompany us." The colonel said.

"Yes, sir" the office replied. Tomorrow morning is the start of a successful day or the start of a miserable future.

Chapter five

Force of Hell

Maher was talking with James alone when they were in their way to the police station exit,

"Completing the report!" With colonel tone imitating Maher said.

"How you knew our site?" James smiled,

"When I found Andy late I worried and got an idea, I rushed to her room and read his day timetable, I found (Sunday morning to 6:oo pm – camping in the forest) and she was always accurate in her time table and I knew you were there. Any questions sir Maher?" With the same imitating tone.

"Yeah, how did u know me?"

"It's easy; I saw your face in the webcam. Any service sir?"

"No. You can leave now."

They both laughed together in low voice not to be heard. They went back home and Maher with his father to the hotel.

Next morning at 7:00 o'clock two police vehicles were filled up with soldiers whose belts and clothes contain modern weapons, taking precautions was the first before taking off the mission journey, and how to get out of such difficult situations. They made a tour in the forest searching for anything of that accident that Jones, Andy and Maher described. They searched every thing; all the forest and even blood and remaining body parts of dead students were vanished. The result was nothing.

"We finished the first part of the task, we failed to make it right, but the second part is attack in 6:00 in the evening. We will come again because they appear in dark."

"Yes sir." Loud sound from fifty soldiers in rows said in the same voice.

"We will now get to our homes, taking rest, from 9:00 to 6:00, it is good duration to...to see off your wives, sons and parents, any one will be absent will be fired as an order from the minister. Now go!"

At 6:00 o'clock, the number was complete, they were again among trees and palm fronds, they got in plant houses, silt caves, there were animals getting out from their houses defending, but they were returning back by one gun shot in the air, like morning, nothing.

"Turn on torches, night came out!"

The result was negative again, and it was the selected time for collecting again in wide green space near the entrance of forest, they were in the vehicles again and drove to the way of exit, when their engines stopped, they looked and found what wasn't expected; the way was blocked by three trees' giant trunks.

"It was open when we entered, wasn't it?"

"Yes sir." Soldier driver answered.

Colonel took short sigh, "It is impossible for us to leave these trunks." Thinking in loud voice, "The only method to get out of this hell is helicopter." "Yes sir." It was Officer Jones.

"In the time, Officer, call the police station to send us five helicopters, each one carry ten." Colonel ordered,

"But, sir" officer replied.

"But what? Do you have other solutions?"

"No, but all mobile signals are absent." He called and showed him the mobile screen (No network) words indicated that something dangerous is coming.

They heard strange sound, like something moving among trees, jungle trees were dense, and that sound get louder and louder, they also felt unusual movement is going on, He shot one bullet in the air, and officer Jones did so hoping that they are wrong in what they were thinking about, the sound disappeared for just a while and appeared again.

"Take your positions in the mountains as in the plan I explained in the morning, each one in the police vehicle. Now go!"

The two vehicles were directing to Rocky Mountains. Car lights were powerful and the road was not easy, filled with sand and rocks. When some animals were exposed to their way, the lights showed shining of their sharp teeth. They shot in the air, but invalid.

They were near and red eyes gazing at them

"Colonel, what can I do?" the soldier driver sound was discontinuous; fright appeared on him and his boss.

They heard strange sound, like something moving among trees, jungle trees were dense, and that sound get louder and louder

"Hit them and run and the other car will follow us."

Gear increased towards the three wolves to crash them, they jumped on the car and hit the frontal glass by one of their fests, it was hard, double layer glass, but it was broken. Colonel left the car driving place to the solid big box behind where the other soldiers were. They hit a soldier in every site in his body, face was dig by their claws, one wolf pierced the soldier neck and extracted the larynx, and another one pierced its hooves in his heart, another in his head.

"Replace the driver, he must be dead, go and drive, come on!" He shouted.

"Yes sir." One got out, and shot them by shot gun, the brave soldier was success in keeping them away of the car, and opened the door; he found body covered with blood, his staring opened eyes only showed its humanity and drove towards the Rockies.

"What is this cowered colonel?" the soldier said in audible sound while driving in breakneck speed ignoring the road difficulties, while the colonel is behind,

"Use any weapon except these of hard bullets, and absolutely not the chemical, use laser weapons, open the small window and......" He saw Jones car, was not a car , it was something covered by these animals, nothing of it was seen, they were so crowded on it, foxes, tigers, wolves and the car moving, till the frontal glass crashed into pieces, and officer Jones beside the driver were eaten by all these numbers, till their skeleton appeared within a minute.

After finishing the two victims, they get back to the other soldiers; they were climbing on its flattened surface by piercing the metal by the help of their claws which were not of those normal creatures. They have broken the back window glass, and guns, besides Ingram, shot guns sound was so dense, to just animals behind this window, which were falling from the moving car, and a number of them again on the small back window and fell of the back car surface, when the police vehicle was stopped by hitting large rock, the back door of the vehicle belongs to the previous second car was opened by their successive powerful hits from them all, they entered and all soldiers were turned to skeletons. Eating sound was really awful, a big number of twenty five humans, all their weapons, laser and bullets, even chemical ones were invalid, each soldier tried to do something, on animal cutting his arm skin by deep injuries reach to muscles, even arteries and nerves, the most deep structures before bone of course. This car had its final fate.

The first car ran to mountains, without animals follow, it was strange matter, soldiers and colonel were partially glad with this death escape, till they were absent from their vision field, reached mountain, they climbed it till its top and took a little rest after that hard climbing, when one soldier referred to red eye talking to his friend. They both stood up, and saw the bad truth,

"Look sir!"

Colonel stood up after that, looking to man like Maher's description, but the difference was that they were many of those electronic men.

"You are right Maher, I didn't expect that, but it's true." Colonel whispered.

"Okey. Get ready!" He ordered the soldiers in challenge voice, they made their shotguns ready.

"Shoot!" He shouted, and fired towards them, shooting and they were getting closer and closer, it seemed the same situation Maher faced when he was near that battlefield. Their frightening look and the confident smile during receiving soldiers' weak attack let these humans down especially when shotguns finished all bullets they had.

"Use laser weapons!" Colonel screamed.

They got them ready for shooting, but too late, they were about one arm closer, they started to penetrate their crocodiles arms into soldiers' hearts, penetrating the jackets against gun shots, then skin, then ribs finally to their hearts, then they seemed holding it well by their human hands. Soldiers pain echoes increased, till they were dead by God's mercy.

Colonel got back and back till the edge, and they were finishing their killing task. They reached to him; they were about twenty electronic men surrounding him and one soldier. They both looked to them, and their eyeballs were getting out from thrill, the soldier looked at the colonel and to death men,

"Excuse me, sir." He jumped.

The colonel looked downwards, he found the soldier was dead because of his broken back by great rock and sharp one penetrated his body. Colonel looked to them and got out the gun shooting them, the bullets didn't penetrate their bodies as usual, but one of them got his arm covered by honoured soldiers' blood into the colonel body, but this time, the electronic creature got it out again. Then colonel went with them like a friend, they were really horrible creatures.

All police men were lost; it was actually the force of hell. Fifty men were added to the victim number besides the twenty children in just small area, only Andy and Maher could keep their lives.

Maher was helping his father in packing bags for their long travel to Egypt on plane in the morning.

Mr. Hassan was afraid on his son; that made him cautious in his transporting for business, or fun tours in Los Anglos, he prevented Maher from his freedom, till the travel day. Mr. Kerulen invited Mr. Hassan and his son for dinner in one of the greatest restaurants in the big city and whole California.

Maher's mobile rang, private number, it seemed of important man, he gave the mobile to his father. He looked strangely to the screen.

"Excuse me." He said to attendants, "Yes, who's calling?"

"I'm a big responsible man and want you to come to my office at 5:00 o'clock in police station for something. I request from you, don't worry it is not formal visit. Okey."

"Okey sir." Mr. Hassan seemed disturbed, they have finished the dinner, and told his son when they were in the room "I didn't want them know, it is of no value at all."

"Yeah, you are right dad."

In the date time, they were at the colonel office, they met a fat man with formal clothes, and it seemed really the important job he had.

"Where's the colonel?" Mr. Hassan asked.

"I'm Brad Nicoln; the colonel is lost with police force in discovery mission.

"What?" Maher asked,

"Yeah the same murders you escaped from?"

"How sad!" Mr. Hassan said, and then continued, "Why we are here?"

"To do us a favour, I hope you do it." Mr. Brad said. "I'm sorry what will you drink?"

"Nothing, we are in hurry, and this favour, I will do it if I can."

"I think you can, it is just keeping what happened here secret."

"Don't worry, it is not good for me to spread these news for my job, I'm a businessman, a sensitive work, if I was in suspicious event, I'll lose too much." Mr. Hassan said in reality method. "But this in Egypt only, there is no guarantee for this in California." He added,

"Don't worry, it's our work, this file will be closed, by our experience, the camp was without school or university permission, so there is not clear responsibility on us, and this convey is originally secret. May I ask for another request? Try to decrease your work in California, because it will not be good place for work or fun anymore."

They both went to the hotel and in their way they watched the high buildings and skyscrapers, marvellous trade centre,

"I swear all of this will disappear after a year, I actually regretted to come to this state, and it will be the last time, and that responsible man, how he thinks that will be a secret? The relatives of their dead will not shut their mouth for him and his high chair; we should leave quickly to avoid this anger revolution." Mr. Hassan said.

The taxi driver could not hear any word because the clients are isolated from driver during car run. Their luggage was ready and they were ready to come back on the plane the next morning. They both slept early to be in the airport next morning at 8:00 o'clock, it will take nine hours, long time journey.

At 7:15 in the morning, alarm clock released its crazy sound to wake Maher and his father up, they were ready to leave the room, they took all things belong to them, and asked home service for anyone to carry these bags down, beside their stay bill.

"Mr. Hassan, put bags to carry these bags in the small lift, and our man will wait it." Room service said,

"Thanks." Mr. Hassan replied. He paid the bill by his credit card, and took a taxi to airport, where they found James, Andy at the gate. They got in waiting Maher's family finishing the necessary proceedings, till time came to get onto the plane.

They both went to the hotel and in their way they watched the high buildings and skyscrapers, marvellous trade centre

" Maher, I lived happy and amazing times with you, you survived from sweeping attack, I hope it will not be the last visit, take care of yourself, okey." Andy said.

"James, be careful on :your sister and thanks for saving me."

They have shaken hand, and then Maher joined his father, and waved his hand to his friends,

"Good Bye."

"Good bye, Maher!" Andy and her brother said, till they have missed Maher from their vision field. It was wonderful seeing off.

They were on board, sitting on great convenient seat, and air condition made it better.

"The weather in beautiful day, clear sky, sun rising." Maher said. He was really optimistic.

"I think flight will be good." His father said, plane was high in air and James's eyes were watching it.

"Happy and safe journey!"

"Dad do you know, what's our way back?"

"Well, we will fly east in American sky, then over Atlantic ocean till we reach west of Africa, then to Cairo."

"Wow, it is beautiful scene." Maher looked out of the window. It was sun rays reflection on the huge Los Anglos skyscrapers. Maher started to read nature magazines, about animals and their life manner, pictures of trees and plants. Time passed quickly when it was 12:30 pm after three hours from plane taking off. sky was filled with clouds, and speed of wind increased, it appeared from inconvenient plane movement in the air.

"Don't worry, weather became bad, and we will land on Dallas airport, please put your seat belts on." Pilot said.

Travellers did so, when pilot made a perfect landing on hard plane passage.

"Well after two hours, we will continue the journey, thanks for listening." Pilot said.

Mr. Hassan felt his son fear and considered that due to the obscure experience in plane journeys. They made a short tour in Dallas enough to remove the tension, and spent this time till continuing to their home.

At 15:00 o'clock, they were on the plane again; it was the selected time of the pilot. Maher was pleased that he visited Los Anglos and Dallas even short visits; they were over blue page of Atlantic Ocean, that time.

Mr. Hassan felt a sound of electricity cut off, however light and all plane fun set still working.

"Is there something wrong?" Mr. Hassan asked. Hostess replied, "Nothing important, it is one of engines stopped, we will go on by the other engines, they are enough to work this plane, please sir, don't worry and don't tell others not to spread thrill on nothing."

"Okey thanks." Mr. Hassan replied. It was not big deal, and slept beside his son.

In 19:00 o'clock, light was cut off, and all sets stopped, and even all engines stopped working, however they were still in the air, how is that? It is deep mysterious puzzle.

Chapter six

Nice Flight

Maher woke up in darkness among stimulated medium, fear and anarchy,

"What's up, dad?" Maher asked.

"Don't worry, I'll go to know." He left Maher and turned on his torch to strength his vision and walked forwards driving room, he opened the door, although it was locked by program run by electricity, he entered.

"Hey, is another engine broken down?"

"How you got in?" The pilot replied the question with another one.

"Please, get out." His assistant said.

"Tell me the truth, and I will go back to my seat." Hassan said.

"You have no right in this." Pilot said.

"Be brave, if you can't make the plane fly, say that."

The pilot looked nervous, "I'm the best aviator, but what made the electric unit destroyed and engines stop, I don't know!"

"Thanks, pilot, try to get us out of this problem, it is difficult, but do your best."

Aviator replied, "You talking like that, knowing what the cause was."

Hassan left the room after worry look to the pilot.

"It is directing to the left." His assistants said.

The aviator exclaimed, "I tried to drive it to right, how come?" He was quiet this time.

"There is another controller on the plane not us." Assistant said with cold smile,

"Yeah, you are right." Disappointed reply from the pilot.

Mr. Hassan returned back to his seat "Is there something wrong?" his son asked.

"Honestly yes, we are in danger, hold yourself well. The aviator was puzzled on his responsibility seat, trying all mechanisms, but he failed." He whispered to his son.

"I will contact the nearest airport."

"It is difficult, we above the ocean." Assistant said,

"We have no other choices! Hello this is flight 501 directing to Cairo, we need help." Pilot said.

Reply was not clear, signal is so weak, sound was "Allo..." jammed then disappeared.

"Oh my God, look." They both looked forwards behind the frontal plane glass, and opened their mouths from astonishment, there were huge flock from different birds, surrounding the plane in circles, and they looked like series around the aeroplane, up, down, around the left and the right wings,

"Aaaaaa!" it was passengers sound, screaming on seeing the same horrible sight.

Eagles and other rare species were flying slowly to land on the left wing and other flock on the right one. Many of people fainted from this sight, while the strong ones were shivering from fear.

"Dad, Is that death chasing me?" Maher said,

"And you will beat it again my son." His father said.

Screaming prevailed this tensed situation.

"You hear that sound?" pilot said

"Yes" his assistant replied,

"We should see what is going on, outside in air." He went on. Pilot held a remote control and pressed on a button and watched screen behind him. He turned the chair towards the screen, it was the camera of right wing recording the scene outside working by stored electrical generator, and he saw what made passengers scream like that, and the same on the left wing, he pressed on button to see what is there on the upper surface of plane body, it was less number and less density, they were scattered everywhere, cameras of the under surface of two wings, and the under surface of plane body, it was unbelievable, doubles and doubles of them on the under surface of plane.

"Now, I got it, they must have broken engines down, and carry it to place somewhere."

"Are you mad? Plane's weight is unbearable, and how they will damage the electrical unit?"

Pilot replied, "So what is your explanation about this situation, where are we going?"

"You mean, these birds are directing the plane and controlling it?"

"Yes!"

"Mysterious, it is still mysterious"

"But what is the exit solution to safe?"

"We will call the nearest airport."

"How?! And network is busy and signals roughly diminished no strength at all." Assistant replied.

"You will see." Confident voice from the aviator, he talked to passengers through microphone working by battery for emergency.

"Silence, please, we're controlling the plane, try to calm down."

No hopeful response but, it was worse, how he wanted them calm and every thing in front of their eyes, he went on,

"Please, anyone has a laptop come to driving place, he can accompany just one with him."

No one wanted to move from his place, but Mr. Hassan looked to his son, asking him by his eyes, and Maher looked to him and said, "Okey dad, I'll come with you." Enthusiastic tone form brave Youngman.

They both directed to the aviator room. "I permitted your son in with you, to make him feel better, okey." Pilot referred to Maher. "Well, give it to me." He opened the laptop, and logged in yahoo messenger, after writing his e-mail and password, and found his friend on line.

"You will chat with him." Mr. Hassan said,

"No" pilot replied," I will send him e-mail." and began to write it. "My friend now in Iceland, I will type this e-mail to him, and I'm sure Iceland air forces will save us. E-mail's title was (Life or death)

"Hi, there is no time to do anything, except for I will tell. Tell your boss to bring a helicopter to the flight number 501 to the northern pole, over the Atlantic Ocean, and another plane filled with fuel for taking passengers from the plane. And do not ask what is happening here? Just do what I ordered, there are about six hundreds passengers on board of this aeroplane, I want to save them all or even part of them, we are here in the plane for ten hours, so do that as fast as you can." E-mail ended.

It was wise e-mail to take these decisions. "You can leave now, thank you for Laptop."

"At our saving service, sir."

"Before leaving, these creatures may be extraordinary." Mr. Hassan said and left.

Assistant smiled to the aviator, "What's our location exactly?"

"We're now in your ways to Newfoundland Island, that has a small airport, but it is enough to receive the plane." He paused for a moment then went on, "I think you are right, but how are they directing?"

"Like anyone changes the thing direction he carries with his way change."

"It's impossible for living beings."

"We are in a deep puzzle."

They both heard steps sounds towards them, and Mr. Hassan got in, "It is your friend, sir." He told the pilot, "You forgot to sign out."

"I did it for waiting a surprise."

"Surprise, what surprise?!" Hassan and aviator's assistant asked in the same time.

"I will see right not what we have, yes here it is."

"I'm with you, my friend." Pilot said in chat with his friend,

"I expected you will do it, thanks for the helicopter at first, and then he clicked (send)"

"Yeah, I'm on board the helicopter for connecting."

"That's kind of you, my friend."

Then he asked, "What is going on?"

"Briefly, the electrical unit was damaged, and all plane engines were broken down." Pilot said in the chat.

He replied," I think I know why." His face was near from helicopter glass window.

"How are you flying?" His net friend asked.

"Is helicopter level above or under our plane's?"

"Higher" He answered,

"So make your aviator fly in level below us about ten meters, and you will understand."

They saw helicopter doing so in the air.

"How horrible! I think I got the hint."

"And what about the other civil plane?" aviator asked.

"It is in its way to you, but wait a second."

He noticed some on the upper surface of plane's body flied to form a flock of about thirty birds of different species, by marvellous speed to the other passengers` plane body. By their beaks, they were pecking up the plane's metal fast, many times, till they have managed to make big holes on its surface enough to fall it down, the attack sound was loud, and flight 501 elevated a little because of the weight difference, when the attacking birds left its upper location.

These holes enabled the difference between atmospheric pressure outside the plane, and inside plane pressure to destroy the plane balance, to fall down. Pilot sent BUZZ! to the helicopter laptop, then replied, "I have bad news for you, these birds are unusual."

The aviator looked amazed, and then looked to Mr. Hassan strangely. "What's up?" He asked.

His friend answered describing the terrible attack sadly.

"So why didn't they destroy this plane. It is really curious."

Another puzzle was added, besides the mystery of their direction to the northern pole, and the main puzzle, what are birds' abilities to do more than this?

Maher was looking from the window, and saw it shaking, its sound was miserable ends the only deliverance method, mass of fire landed to crash the water surface of the ocean,

"Hey it seemed the last moment of my life; the birds are coming to us."

"Try to describe them, my friend and tell the helicopter pilot to show his skill in running away in air."

"It is impossible, look their eyes are red."

A crash sound in the helicopter glass by its body, which showed their metal sharp feathers that penetrated that strong doubled-layers glass, it ran away, no, it came back again with its attacking colleagues, they fixed their legs hooves on plane metal surface and began to rock it.

He went on typing, "Their legs strong with sharp claws, knife-sharpened feathers, rocky beaks, good bye my friend."

He was really fast in typing with cool heart, unlike pilot sadness marks appeared on his face, he was affected by his friend's death. They are pecking up everywhere, till two of them flied upwards, and put their beaks in the way of its fans which were broken at once.

"Helicopter is going down; it is destroyed like the previous plane. They did not lose anything, suffer was obscure, their bodies and beaks are of well case. They seemed stronger.

Maher and his father were back to their seats, and noticed the change before and after. They found people near windows; they were watching the accidents. Women and children were on the instinct, while men tried to make them quiet, but it is impossible to do so, especially after this terrible scene.

On seats behind Maher, there was a mother with her son, she was pretending to sleep her baby between her hands, and it was just emotional situation.

Plane hostesses told that their direction changed to the northern pole avoiding these creatures, some of passengers persuaded themselves, and others refused this idea, they thought there is no escape from death that day. One of travellers left his place to talk to a hostess, asking angrily,

"Can you tell me what's happening? Why these two explosions? What these creatures do on plane? And what this pilot will do to run away from this hell?"

"Please, return to your place, sir." She replied.

"How I will set down comfortable and there is no control inside the plane" and referred to passengers, "or outside this flying vehicle."

"I don't know, sir, it is the first flight, I see all of this." Tears tone mixed her sad voice, followed by tears on her cheek.

"Excuse me, pilot need me now." She said.

She was absent just a minute and called for Mr. Hassan between passengers when she was back, they were in dim light of lamps working by batteries also; again he went to the driving room with his son carrying the laptop, on entering the room, he handed the pilot the small device.

Pilot turned it on and talked with its owner "It is necessity to be good at surfing the net, your work demanding this skill, searching for websites and news." The pilot seemed quiet in saying these words.

He called Iceland airport, and logged on their website and pressed on (Important Chat) icon and said: "Hi, I'm Nelson's friend; I need some one chat with."

"Yes, I'm with you."

"Nelson was aviator's friend," Pilot went on: "we were and still in big trouble as you were reported, I think you heard bad news of destroying both of two planes you sent, thank you and…"

He looked to the screen and found the man typed: "It's enough now, you put us beneath the responsibility of losing two of our units besides death of two pilots besides important employee. Sorry, don't expect our help again, we have the same problem, a flight going to India, almost it was captured by the same manner of birds, their extraordinary weapons did the same, and now going to the southern pole after changing its final land."

Silence prevailed the weather, "Why these birds capture civil plane? And why these two places exactly, the northern and southern pole? Why these snow places?" Pilot was asking himself and the others in the room.

"I have suggestion sir; I think it is the only thing that can defend itself first, then saving us later." Assistant said.

"It's good idea." Aviator said, then went on "Okey, we will call American airlines for help, I wanted to do that first, but the far distance between America and our site is too long, I will call them now."

"No wait, you must appreciate the time needed for their reaching to our location, because these birds have purposes to direct these two planes to snow poles, for your information, they are not just birds, they have high intelligence."

Mr. Hassan said in warning tone, "Maher!" he went on. "You remember colonel words." He whispered to his son. "Please, hand me the laptop, excuse me," He told the pilot.

"Here you are."

He opened a program for calculating the travel time between countries, it was not convenient number, Hassan's face was resented, "It is only three hours, and I don't think it is enough."

"Don't worry, you don't know our American air forces, I will send them a message, I think they are waiting it."

The aviator typed a message to Washington Airport; he wrote it containing the approximate site, in short time, waiting for a reply.

After five minutes, it reached "We will send you a number of air forces to free your plane, of the most modern fighters with complete weapons."

Mr. Hassan remembered colonel's statements, he was optimistic like these leaders.

He smiled and said," You are not very bad in computer as you told me."

"The message was brief; I told him the actual problem, and the bad situation here, passengers are out of control, I exaggerated the danger we face."

"But, you didn't." Mr. Hassan said, he went on confident tone, "expect every thing!"

"I hope they come early before three hours, before reach to northern pole, we don't have much time."

They were waiting in the dim light room. few devices work by batteries,

"The laptop is well charged, fortunately."

When they heard loud sounds of military air forces above and below them, they were so speedy that appeared as spectra,

"Well, we have five American air forces provided with device receives laptop signals into words in its small screen with small whistle for every new message, with weapons were used one time in army units for experiments, and it is the first time for a real use, it is a scarify to destroy their secrets. The program of the send- receiving device was sent to your computer Mr. Hassan; I will delete it after this use."

"Okey, Sir." He replied that time as talking to an army pilot.

It was assured a message from American air forces. The pilot read it with loud voice, he went on, "It was not easy to take agreement to send these military planes, they must have taken Mr. President opinion besides defense minister after studying the situation in rapid and accurate manner, they seemed have known some things before we call their help."

Assistant said, "So they sent this contact device, but how we will give orders and we don't know their position around us, they must send us their numbers or even symbols."

Maher was watching and listening only, not talking any word.

"There is information, has come. Snake is the name of 4th air force. And Bat is the 5th air force, they both were provided with technological weapons. Tiger is the 1st and Thunder is the 2nd air force, they have marvellous speed. Elephant is the 3rd air force, and it is big enough to carry the passengers."

"Well, we have five American air forces"

"Okey, every thing ready, wait my orders.", "Please, I want to be alone, I will keep your laptop with me."

"Okey we'll leave. Good luck."

"Thanks you, Mr. Hassan. Please you can take a seat near the room among passengers." He directed his assistant.

"But…"

"Please I want to be alone for this battle."

"At your service." assistant replied.

"Now, it is my turn." Aviator said encouraging himself.

Maher and his father came back to their place again and the assistant found a seat near the room.

"Ladies and gentlemen please put on your seat belts and hold yourselves well and don't be afraid for just shakes, I'll take you out of this hell." Trusted voice calmed them a little; they have done what the pilot ordered.

He began to send orders on laptop, and will appear on their devices. The first order was to the snake and the bat to make a skirmish to the birds of upper surface in the same time. They flied high and exchanged their position right to left by flying over the upper surface of the plane by highly skilled pilots.

"Birds flied away sir." Bat said, and words appeared on the laptop screen,

"Do this again many times, till no bird still in its place!"

They did so, till happened what the leader aviator wanted.

"Done sir" snake reported.

"Attack them at once before coming back, by all weapons you have."

It was fast typing to the two previous air forces. They both flied besides each other, then each one became away of the other plane. They fired rockets to the collected flocks, these rockets were of chain reaction bombs, and many successive explosions chased birds. These creatures scattered every where, but these bombs had advantage of metal follow bombs. They were not dead, unexpected result surprised the bat's and snake's fighters, but they didn't give up, they released big machines of bullets that rotating electrically and with automatic distribution of shot, from its hidden place and both pressed on the button, shots were every where to the birds species, during this attack,

"They did not die, sir." Bat said. "They are away of plane, but not dead. sir" snake reported.

The leader pilot knew the result. During this process every thing was clear to passengers through sounds, vision and plane shakes. A condition of fear spread in the air, in such circumstances, people ask for help, and God is the suitable to present invocations. That's happened to the humans inside the aero plane, Christians reading Gospel and few Muslims reading Qur'an. Some were asking Allah for taking this catastrophe away.

Bat and snake planes were away of flight 501 (Passengers plane) in difficult war with these birds which were following them, but luckily they were not as speed as these two air forces, they were less.

"We are being chased, sir." Snake said,

"Okey, can they catch you?" pilot said

Leader typed," No, sir!"

"Keep them chasing you." It was order to both of the bat and the snake, and opened the icon of elephant air force, and kept the first and second air forces icons opened, he typed, "Fly, above us by a short distance."

"Yes, sir" elephant replied.

"Take saving process done."

"Okey" 3rd plane replied.

"Tell me what will you do?" He told him at once. Elephant will effect saving decision. Pilot leader, said in the microphone," Hold your seats well, I repeated." He typed, "Start Elephant!"

A metallic rope fell down and its lower end seemed modern anchor that was fixed enough to the upper surface of passengers plane, that hard rope was the connection between flight 501 and the elephant. One of Commandoes, held that rope well, and he was attached by another usual rope for safety. That strong man got a machine cutting the iron and other metals and made a hole whose diameter enough to get obese subjects through, the army man picked a passenger and attached the usual rope to his back and press on a button, that ordered another soldier in the elephant to pull this rope with the saved subject attached to it to the saving air force. Difference in pressure between out side and the inside, the plane should have rocked passengers without seat belts and well-holding seats. This saving process continued one after one, and battle between the snake, the bat and the birds was continuous.

While the military deliverer was making sure that rope is well attached to an old man. Birds that carry the plane on their backs and wings felt something. It was strange that plane weight decreased. This marked decrease was due to transporting passengers to elephant plane, besides, birds that left the upper surface of plane, chasing the bat and snake air forces.

"Can they feel weight difference?" leader pilot said to himself, "and if they felt what will they do? I will wait any report about their movements." He whispered to himself.

It was about ninety minutes passed and about two hundreds of passengers were saved. Suddenly flight 501 descended down, few meters, about half of birds which were carrying the civil plane collected in flocks, and set off towards the elephant that was still connected by the metallic rope, but tiger air force attacked them by shots and small rockets avoiding the deliverance air force damage, they changed their heads and chasing the first fighter plane.

"I'm running away from so fast birds appeared from no place." Tiger reported.

Pilot leader expected that after this sudden descend down pulling the elephant with the passengers' plane. "Use your break neck speed." He typed, then to thunder icon, "hit them by some missiles and rockets and try to be seen by birds, and then make them chasing you." He typed so fast. New attacking flocks were following one plane, but when thunder fired them by these strong weapons, made number of them chasing it in the air. It was brilliant idea to divide the huge flock it two big, less in number. At the same time, in far place, birds of upper plane surface were busy fighting the bat and the snake air forces whose fighters were too clever and brave to manage to make unexpected achievement; they have made these flocks tired, they were not able to go on this battle, they have been defeated when they stopped chasing, they flied away to the opposite direction of flight 501. It was not easy mission to fight these creatures more than one hour, but by modern rockets, and shooting them with bullets hitting them and rocking their strength. They did not die, but such a result was good enough in this kidnapping situation. Smoke was the password for this partial victory when both (bat and snake) used it in case being birds close to them, consequently they lost the fighter plane location, it was warning to them from higher centres not to make these creatures reach to plane because means its destruction. Back to the battle again, when old attacking flocks were away, the fighters firing them with laser missiles whose advantages were helpful, they were of the type that release bright strong light blind the target, not to give it the chance to escape, then hitting them powerfully, and sparks spread every where as result of a missile strength, besides continuous shooting, actually bat and snake were heroes.

While tiger and thunder air forces were so speedy, crossing their locations, and changing their sites many times, however the new attacking flocks were still behind them, so they used the last plan, they released too much coloured smoke behind, facing the birds which they were seeking getting rid of this dense smoke, they have succeeded, but they didn't see the two fighters anymore, they looked everywhere and in each direction, they found themselves alone in the sky, as a result, they followed the other defeated birds to their hidden locations.

Army soldier also saved about 350 passengers, and there were about half an hour to the northern pole, and there were still birds carrying the plane on board of their bodies.

It was Maher's father turn to go to the elephant, he put both of his legs on the upper part of the big seat and holding small shelf by his hands, then he stretched one of his hands to catch the army deliverer's hand, he attached the usual rope to his back and pressed on the button, Mr. Hassan was being lifted and had beautiful look to the night clouds in the short distance between flight501 and the elephant. He sat on solid seat, elephant plane seemed to transport soldiers to war sites, and it was the main goal for its manufacture. Maher, did like his father, and he was beside his father in the deliverance plane.

He hugged him at once, and then kissed him, "I'm now comfortable, when you sat beside me."

Birds carrying flight 501 in puzzled situation, they have two choices. The first was to stay on their places, keeping passengers plane on their wings or the second to let it away, and by that way they would lose their hostages. And if they chose the first, they would help the deliverance mission that was known when most of bird forces disappeared. In other words, they were carrying the plane, and people were being saved.

Mr. Hassan and Maher looked to their flying transporter where they were,

"You know that pilot is really professional." Mr. Hassan said.

"You are right, he saved many people from death and still." His son said.

Birds took their decision and flied away leaving the civil plane fall down pulling the elephant with it down and down, the metallic rope was not enough to carry the passengers' plane, and its strong attachment to both planes made it impossible to be cut down. Flight 501 was putting weight on elephant, and both of them will be lost.

That's would happen, If the leader pilot didn't take his decision, he typed on the elephant icon, "Separate the metallic rope."

That decision was from brave man, he would scarify with his life to save other people, he will lose himself and other passengers' life, and there wasn't any other choice. The army soldier knew the order, he started to separate the anchor of the metallic rope from flight 501, facing passengers screams, "Don't leave us here!", "Save me please."

He held the metallic rope well, and separated the anchor, plane fell down, and elephant was saved from that destination. It flied to Cairo the original direction of flight 501. Pilot of saving plane was crying happily and sadly in the same time. His tears were descending with passengers' plane descent.

"I will save these passengers by all I have." He said to himself enthusiastically, he called the tiger, thunder, bat and snake air forces to come and protect the elephant, after reporting them, where he was exactly, in few minutes, they were around it like fortress, eventually there was no attack and sky was quiet these moments.

Sunshine came out, and its rays covered the air forces, while flight 501 was flying again normally, directing to island filled with snow, it was on of the northern pole islands, solid birds saved their goal and carried the plane before its crash with the Atlantic Ocean, and then sinking, the plane landed, and all flying creatures scattered in the air, they were not seen any more, just disappeared in no time.

Chapter Seven

The first death

It was eight o'clock in the next day morning. Twenty four hours in plane, twenty four hours were the most dangerous moments in the air adventure to everyone had this nice flight. Absolutely the elephant landed with the accompanying air forces in one European airport to be fuelled, so that they could continue this distance to Egypt.

No fighter planes could land in any country without permission except for captured countries. So the American president phoned the tiger to know if everything was all right. Tiger's aviator reported him their partial success, and asked him for landing in the nearest airport to him after telling him their location. So American president took safety proceedings and reported Spain about that. In turn, they agreed and reported the defense force about the five planes, their descriptions and American flag would illustrate every thing. They landed safely and took their time in filling tanks with fuel. Still Tiger, Bat, Thunder, Snake flew with the elephant, because they were frightened birds coming up in any moment. Suddenly, with all those guarders, the elephant entered the Egyptian airfield; they were safe because defense minister knew their carrying many Egyptian people.

They were in the clear sky until Maher saw Cairo tower from the small window. They reached Cairo airport, and the landing was perfect as usual, although there was a bump, however the pilot was experienced and landed while the plane was roaring. Before going outside the plane, pilot advised every one to protect his eyes from the sudden sun light.

Maher and his father came out to the fresh air wearing sun glasses, smelling love of their home country. They looked far to meet their friends and relatives who expected that they would not see them again after this lateness. But they were astonished; they were in front of reporters however airport security prevented them their attack to passengers.

It was a small siege to them. But the passengers were leaving quietly when the journalists found their way to them. Besides Mr. Hassan was famous business man, he was seen to them, so they directed to him in no time. He found himself in front of a lot of microphones and cameras of local and international channels. Thanks to his intelligence, he managed to take short conversation from one of the reporters, "Could you tell me what happened? Oh I'm sorry; I forgot to say welcome back to Egypt."

Mr. Hassan: “Thanks, really, it takes too long time to tell you what happened, and I'm dead tired from this flight. Briefly it was adventure to me for the first degree. I will go back home, don't forget I stayed about a day flying in different planes, I will go now." He talked and silence prevailed, but more questions were being asked and noise came back again. He succeeded to find his car outside the airport, and saw

It was a small siege to them. But the passengers were leaving quietly his wife. Maher shared him joy in returning back safe.

"I'm sorry, I couldn't wait you inside the airport, and it was so crowded." Mother said

"I realized that when my feet were on land." Volvo car containing the family was back to the house again.

He opened the door and enjoyed his eyes seeing his home and family love again, that he thought for moments, he would lose it completely. He took a rest on sofa, then turned TV and satellite on, he chose news channel. "And about the Icelandic plane directing to India was lost, but the American plane was saved by the American air forces, they made good thing to save about half of passengers, Unfortunately Iceland failed to do so. And no terrorist organization admitted by these attacks."

He was glum, and then thought for minutes while looking to the ceiling, and understood what blocked the attack source. It was United States government, published this news, and didn't mention the attack, it was certain policy. He was sure of his view when he remembered what the big responsible said in California. Then he heard snoring sound, it was Maher slept on his seat, he was not used to travelling all this time. For this time, no one cared about the crowded hall with the luggage. Eventually servant lifted it to rooms. And telephone did not stop ringing, journalists and reporters were asking for information, and the servant told them that they were sleeping. The telephone rang again," Allo, I'm Andy, Maher's friend, Is he back?"

"Yes, but he…" servant stopped on hearing laughing and screaming,

"Tell him, Andy called you and I'm very glad that he escaped again. Thank you" He was about to end the calling when he heard.

"Wait please the last service, tell Maher chat with my brother, please don't forget."

"Okey, I will report him." Servant said.

Maher went up to complete sleeping in his room, they were all asleep, but they woke up at 6:00 o'clock in the evening, when the door bell rang, servant opened it, it was their relatives, Maher saw his uncles and aunts. No sooner had they seen him, that they hugged him in turn. Pleasure marks appeared on their faces, from smiling, shouting and joy crying. They kissed him, celebrating the family return.

Mr. Hassan and Maher's mother woke up on their welcome sounds,

"What happened, Maher?"

His parents were descending on stairs to the hall. They directed to them, but the asker didn't accompany them and sat in front of him. It was difficult question, and he was obliged to answer and his parents were close to him, what will he do?!

"Well, we were inside the plane, and there was something wrong with its engines, however pilot was clever enough to save us, it was difficult circumstances which might lead to miserable consequences. The aviator was definitely calm and well trained."

And all attendants were listening, and heard the reply. It was smart answer. Then they talked about other subjects, when involuntarily Maher yawned. It gave them the necessity feeling to leave, because Mr. Hassan and his son still looked tired. They stood up.

"I think we should leave, now."

"No, No stay." Mr. Hassan said.

"Thank you we came for just seeing you, Welcome back."

They left home. He went up but a voice stopped him, "Sir, there is some one called you, Andy and..."

"James?" Maher said.

"Yes and told me to report you a message" "What is that?"

"It was request for chatting."

"Thank you for reporting me."

He was in his room and turned on his computer and logged on his hotmail messenger and found Andy on line, he entered and sent Buzz and said: Hi

Andy: Hi Maher, I'm very glad to talk to you again; I can't resist my pleasure, but let me ask you how… how you and your father escaped from the plane? I heard the plane disappeared with not small number of passengers were lost. (She looked very worried and revealed her feeling by the yellow faces specialized for chat.) She said: Is there any injuries or something wrong with your father?"

He replied: No, don't worry, we are solid.

And she asked the traditional question: What happened?

Maher began to write what happened in the chat in separated sentences, not to make her bored in waiting. Andy was the first one to know the accident in details, he was soaked up in this chat and forgot tiring feeling, it was too long and took much time, she showed her fright, the strong friendship that was a proof of her loyalty,

"All that I said is secret, not told to anybody, except for James. Only my family and yours know that, but I think it will be written in magazines and newspapers soon."

Andy: Channels didn't give reasons why the American and Icelandic planes lost, there was not any marks that proved planes crashed, any explosion or ruins even radars could not definite their locations. The search is continuous for the black box that included all possible information.

Maher confidently replied: Nobody could do it because the rest passengers of flight 501 were taken to some where, the northern pole as I heard, however the Icelandic plane might be taken by these birds or might be also destroyed, any way around the world will stop weeks, and its natural climate will be back again."

Andy: This attack looked like the attack you met in the forest.

Maher laughed and said: Please take care of yourself and report all salutations to James and your family.

Andy replied: All right see you.

Maher: see you later.

Many coloured lights were the décor of Eiffel tower, Paris. Laughing sound was coming from the last wooden chairs in a café. It was very crowded that day with a lot of people in front of huge screen of television. They were actually nervous, and it was normal, because their team was losing by one goal to no, suddenly they shouted a very loud scream of joy when their forward attacker scored a goal in the same time of their laughing. They were having coffee and tea, they were unlike other people, they were talking to each other about the news and laughed at president promises and words of American and French Policy, when the public shouted the second yelling of the second goal scored at minute 90 at the end of the match. Match ended, pleasure spread in Café whose owner offered all drinks on his expense for free; celebrating the important win. That was the cause of the public happiness, while the laughing three scientists were glad due to their invention. It was converting sea water to good water available for drinking and washing, like rivers water, however they did not declare about it. They were scientists in different fields of specializations. Roberto Alvarez, a scientist in the field of techniques and technology. He was the founder of this invention. The second who lent help to Roberto, was John Henry the scientist in physiology science. He gave him the idea of breathing some kind of fish. Then Roberto benefited from it and applied the idea on his device. The third was John's assistant; he was Claude Perez, the right arm of Henry. He helped him a lot in different studies and researches. They were friends also and interested in knowing the world news. All people got out of the café except for them: they were celebrating by safe fire plays, singing victory song and holding small French flags. But they stayed in the café watching the news headlines. The first was about the president visit to Moscow, they didn't care about it. The second was about the two air accidents, the Icelandic and American flights. Reporters asked big responsibles on the reasons for both of them. The great official in Iceland said it was because of highly speed winds that had its role besides an engine break down. While the big official in California by confident American accent. "Absolutely there was something wrong in the engines besides the cruel wind, but our brave air forces made the least loss than big one, thank you."

John Henry said," Few losses, yes it is the habit of the loser responsibles."

Roberto went on," How is it believed? Two planes at the same time were lost, there is something missing, we don't know, and it will appear soon."

Claude Perez ended the discussion, "Actually the two governments will find the two black boxes, anyway, it is time of work, let's go."

Claude was and still gives due importance to his work, as he liked it. He was also respecting date and time, so Henry and Alvarez were. They accompanied to the car. It was Mercedes make, Henry bought it by high price. The café was close to Eiffel tower square. They got in the car and ordered the driver to move to his villa. He drove through Chanzelize street lights, while they were seeing the beautiful sight of trees surround by ropes of light, a lot of wonderful fountains were decorating the place. Then they turned on the radio to listen to some old songs in their way to the villa.

They were near to the villa in a dark road, each one was combined with the song words, and suddenly they felt the car rocking.

"What's going on?" Roberto asked.

John talked the driver by small telephone in the car hall back to the driver's seat.

John is still holding the special telephone and car shakes increased, one after one, and strength is increasing.

Henry voice appeared after many of Allo,

"What's happening, Is there something wrong with the car? It broke down?" Many questions revealed the worried Henry.

Few moments when the driver replied," The car is doing very well, but it is under attack, I locked doors well, don't..." telephone voice was cut.

Henry was back to his many Allo, but this time, was no reply besides rocking disappeared.

"I'm going out." Henry said.

"We will come with you." They said.

The three were out of the car. They were in small dark road, and trees were on their lefts and rights. Henry was watching car's case; there were many of contusions marks and hits,

"It is strange that to be happened to the solid Mercedes." Henry said,

"What do you mean with that?" they asked him.

John referred them to see. "Yeah, you are right."

"Look there is scrawling also, it is made by an animal crawls." Alvarez added.

And blood was on ground appeared from no where. They looked to it and seemed interested, not frightened, when Claude was apart of them a little.

"It must be animal's blood." John said.

They were walking carefully and slowly, "Wrong answer, my friend." Perez said. Both directed to Claude and found him gazing frightened and his hand tremors indicated his feeling. They did not know why his appearance is like that, but they become like him on watching the sight. There was big open in the car frontal glass, it was crashed, but the more when they observed the driver whose fleshy of the head was absent, only his eyeballs were existed, down to his chest, they found themselves in front of ribs covered with fresh blood, besides a break through his middle ribs to find out part of his heart and there were teeth marks on the rest of the life organ. And hits damages were on car's front.

"It is unusual attack and nothing appeared to discover what happened. It must be......" he stopped for a while, the continued," I don't know."

"Impossible, what are you thinking about, it can't be animal, and the wildest creature will die in moments after these many hits." John Henry replied to Alvarez.

A spectrum was flying on ground,

" Look out!" Claude shouted to Roberto, he looked behind him at once and found a head covered with fur running to him, they all ran, but the fox plunged its sharp teeth to the back of Alvarez leg, followed by loud scream in the wide silent area, and ran away again in between the dense trees after this fast attack.

They were carrying him to the car and found difficulty in doing so, he was heavy, and his injury was so deep, however it can be treated, Claude opened the door to the car hall,

"Wait" he went ahead, "how we got out, and your driver said that he locked the doors, it is automatic, isn't it?" Claude continued,

"You are right Perez, get him in first and I will see the dashboard." Alvarez was partially safe; he was inside the car, while his friends were out.

John looked to the dashboard and found the electronic device locking the door was damaged also, it was the only device that was destroyed among the too many which were covered with blood. Henry and Perez checked the dashboard together when they felt the fox walking and getting closer to the car.

They both bent down and silenced, they walked on their foot ends to hide them behind the car, luckily doors were closed, and the black glass prevented Alvarez vision. They were safe, and the fox reached to the car and climbed up to finish his dinner, eating the driver. John and Claude tried to make the animal feel their absence by no movement, and heard eating sound, it was awful to hear that sound, it was disgusting and filled with thrill.

Alvarez opened small part of glass and found Perez. As soon as he saw him, he referred by his index to shut up. Alvarez was in bad case, he released his hand catching a syringe, and used sign language for injecting him; Claude's balance partially lost and fell on ground. Fox was on driving seat, it directed its head to the sound source at once. It got out and was in front of Henry exactly, it bent its head a little down and opened its mouth filled with long sharp teeth, No way for run.

It rushed to fix its hind limbs on Henrys' thighs and its left forelimb on his left shoulder, and elevated its claws up; John closed his eyes waiting his death. Claude was watching, and didn't know what to do, but he knew at the time. He took the syringe from Roberto's hand and injected it in the animal's neck.

There was resistance against the syringe like something hard like iron, however the titanium (it is kind of metal had solidity less than iron and flexibility is good) needle managed to overcome this metallic resistance and into it.

Fox head swaged and its attacker forelimb fell down and was about to fell on Henry, but Perez pushed it away, it was so heavy creature; however Adrenaline made it possible to throw it away. A small battle ended and witnessed a small victory, the first death of a creature like this.

Mercedes car was in the middle of blood circular pool.

"What we do with this creature and the...?" Claude stopped. They both looked to the driving seat and John continued the question. "and the rest of the driver? Well we carry the fox to the villa, "Be patient Alvarez". He elevated his voice, "then we will carry him to hospital, it will not take time, we are close.

"Okey." Perez said.

"I will carry the sleeping fox to the car bag." Henry said.

"You can't, John."

John smiled then tried to carry the animal, and Perez words were right. he just pulled it, then Claude helped him in lifting it to the back bag.

"I will stay beside Roberto and you drive. Okey?" Perez said

"Thanks for saving my life." Claude smiled.

"You are welcome."

Henry made the human who was a driver in a previous day aside, and his clothes were coloured by the bloody colour, he could bear the place, till they both carried the fox to the villa and went to hospital for Roberto treatment from attack and reporting about the driver death, by wild attack from wild animal, and that was proved by the medical report, and Alvarez was good.

They were back to their home, and lay on their beds after this terrible tiring time. Alvarez leg was bandaged after cleaning the injury and stopping the bleeding.

"You know, that fox weighed about 75.5 kilograms and I don't have the enough strength to carry it." Henry said.

"I told you that, I noticed that when I pushed it." Perez replied.

"What substance contained that syringe?"

"It was analgesic; I didn't know what made me to do so." Claude said.

"You are right it was analgesic." Roberto added. The three were lying on bed, leaving their legs hanged and their feet touched the floor.

"What happened when I was in the car?"

"Oh, don't care." Henry replied.

"Oh yeah, let it away." Roberto said.

I have an idea." Alvarez said.

"What's your idea?" Henry asked

"I think there is something new and unknown to make such changes to creature from blood and fleshy."

"What do you mean?" Perez inquired.

"I think it is better if we discover its anatomy?"

"I had this thought also, but I hesitated to tell you."

"Okey I will carry it to the basement." Perez said.

"And we will work on it in the next morning." John said.

"I think it is dead." Alvarez said after lifting one forelimb and fell like a dead, and noticed its closed eyes, he tried to confirm his decision when he opened the animals' eyes, they were dilated, gazing at no where.

"It is more safe to keep it in well closed place." Claude ensured.

Sun lightened the laboratory, the three were around the big bed which carried the dead fox, Alvarez was then only sitting on chair because of his injury after insist on presence, while the servant was waiting any order for bringing instruments and tools. Laboratory was well organized and every thing ready.

Henry and Perez went to bring some devices and tools that would help them in their task, passing through its narrow passages; the laboratory was full of watching glasses containing chemical substances and many electrical devices and in the centre of the laboratory, the water device they have invented. It was big cube of strong glass and the both scientists retuned back to the dead fox, which was in a side of the working room.

They were gazing, and seemed serious, the fox was on his right side, its mouth was open, his eyes were closed, Perez elevated one eyelid and directed the torch towards its pupil, it didn't constrict, and it was proof of death,

"How it is dead by injection? You said it was analgesic."

"Yes besides a salty saline." Roberto replied.

Henry held the lancet, he cut the fur over its neck, but there was not a drop of blood and it is very curious, any living mammal creature must bleed from its neck on just small cut, but it didn't happen.

"What is that?" John said,

"Try to cut deep tissues." He told Claude and Roberto, Each one held the lancet; however they failed,

"I feel something metal under its fur, impossible." Roberto said and it was the same on each part of its body. It looked unusual that there was not any connection between the fur and the inside body surface, nothing attached it deeply like a fascia or something like that, it was isolated from the metallic body, however there were certain points, chemical substance stuck its skin to the body and it was easily removed. Roberto took the fur and handed it to the servant after its checking, and there was not any indication for blood presence.

They were back to the animal, and they were amazed, Claude was playing with his beard, John was scratching his scalp beside Roberto who opened his mouth after a whoop shout.

They were in front of metal body full of platinum nails in the backbone area to attach the iron vertebrae together. It looked like the shape of any fox with its accurate details, they looked and studied its skeleton, it was of a chemical component against melting except in six thousands grades, it is the temperature of sun outer surface, it was rare to be found, this material extracted from seventy miles deep underground. There were bulks of an element as flexible as white platinum without any blemishes. Henry tried to cut a piece of it but he failed.

"It is difficult." Perez said. Held the two parts of skeletons (They were like bone, but they weren't) attached to this bulk and moved, they have found out the strange muscles of this creature.

They were in each part in his body, even its head, and their appearance showed the strength, great bulk, black and shiny.

Roberto wrote everything in a paper to represent a scientific report about this fox. Amazement stilled on their face,

"Do you think it is ordinary? It is like a robot, No, it is better."

Alvarez said, "I will not be amazed, if I see anything strange in its anatomy. I accept every thing I will see, what do you think?"

"I totally agree with you and I think this report will have great rock in zoology and techniques sciences, so we have to work fast and accurately."

They went ahead to their work. Its head was complex, its teeth substance was ivory, eyes had red pupil, and ears seemed strange from external shape it was like others, while the auditory tube seemed endless. After that, they turned to organs, Roberto had idea about human's and animal's anatomy, he had information more than his colleagues, and it would be important in the next task. Henry managed to open the body from these nails, it was not easy as it needed certain method from certain tool specialized for these kinds of nails, he untied them in the backbone, and put the nail in a glass plate and other nails of the main bones, however viscera still deep, and can not be seen. Alvarez stood up, holding his keys, one of them fell on the metallic skeleton, he tried to get it back, but there was a great resistance, but he succeeded at last,

"You see what happened?" Roberto said, then he answered himself, "there is a magnetic force and that is great protecting for it."

"And how will we overcome that magnetic force?" Claude said.

"Easy, we bring a magnet with its positive and negative poles, and get it close to the body, if there is attraction or discord between each pole and the metallic body, different attract and the same discord." Henry said. They carried this experiment out; it was simple, but failed.

“May be there is a magnetic force inside the animal from electrical charges, we can measure the electrical magnetic power by that device."

"You mean electricity in side animal!" Roberto said.

"It is not animal, it is a robot, and we just try." John defended against his idea and brought the device, which had small screen with two electrodes.

He put the electrodes on animal's backbone and abdomen, it was not small number, it was 125.5 Newton, Henry was right,

"Okey we have magnetism of one hundred Newton, we put helical electrical wire around it and control the intensity of the electrical current and voltage difference in the electrical circle to form magnetic field interferes with the original field of the magnetism, and make force overcome the original one that we measured (125 N) .

Henry said, "Brilliant idea, Alvarez" They did it and succeeded, they managed to open the gate to its viscera.

Electrical sparks blinded them, they were intense and a lot.

"From that sight, every thing run by electricity in this body, and its organs specialized for its conduction and generation, but how we prove that front of the electrical monster even after its death?" John laughed and said, "Any service I have what can help you."

"What is that thing?" Perez asked

"There!" he referred to wooden chair and strange device. He went and asked the servant to help him, there was something black column divided by grades to number 500000, and two thick wires connect it to two big masses and a strong wooden handles.

Henry asked them to keep away. He sat on the wooden chair, he put the two masses inside the animal, John was shaking, and red light elevating reaching to high grades on the black column, it reached to 300000, then stopped with Henry stop shaking, and there was not any spark or electrical atom on the animal's viscera,

"What is that?" Roberto asked

"It is high technological device used to empty the electrical charges from any thing to this high store which contained thousands of batteries that can stand 500000 electrical charges of the strongest intensity." John gave him the catalogue,

"Now we can solve these puzzles safely." Claude said.

"I'd like have a rest and soft drink." Roberto said.

"Yeah it's better." The servant offered them orange juice for refreshment.

They took samples from organs, lungs and stomach, intestines, their shape was usual, but their colour was dark, all samples looked the same, they all like gelatinous rubber, each one studied slide from each organ histological and chemical.

The result was the same, it was no living tissue, no nucleus, and no cell at all, however chemically they all contained the suitable mediums and catalysts for ionizing any solution or substance for getting charged ions to enable the fox to get more electricity. It was the motor energy to the powerful muscles. They took for proving this truth.

Claude looked strangely to the iron cover of the fox, and there were tiny spots, he brought a thin wire that had thickness of 2mm, it did not get into it, it was not just spot, it was tiny canal, he found that out, when he got a small device of different wires of thickness, a wire of 0.5 mm got into that tiny canal to reasonable depth till reached inside organ, he ran to the fur, and knew their secrets.

"Any thing liquid can diffuse from fur through these tiny canals that leads to organs which can ionize them to charged ions, so this creature can stand presence in any substance." It was good theory from Perez.

They searched for the heart and found it, it was small, half of man's, they could separate it. The heart mystery was glycerine that time. It was filled with glycerine. Vessels from heart were made of flexible rubber, and absolutely, there wasn't any blood running in them. The general shape of body inside was black organs with blue vessels and electricity was covering all this, it was like a machine.

They managed to get some of liquid running in these vessels, it was Nitric acid. Perez was writing all this in the report.

"I have an explanation about the presence of glycerine and Nitric acid. Hydrogen reacts with Nitrogen to form Ammonia. Ammonia reacts with oxygen to form NO. NO will react with Oxygen again to form NO2. NO2 will react with water molecule that make Nitric acid and all these elements can be obtained from atmosphere especially and rainy weather and reaction inside its viscera, and you know its body substances from metals and components provide the suitable temperature for reactions. Glycerine will react with Nitric acid to form Trinitroglyceride as a result, which by electrical sparks cause high energy release equal to those of explosions which provide it for high speed and force. It is the source of the electrical energy, when you gave him the analgesic injection spoiled that reactions, and that broke that machine down." He managed to persuade Claude but John was not completely persuaded,

"I want to see the point you injected it, Perez" John said

"You want to see it anatomy." He replied

"Yes!" Henry was really enthusiastic.

"It is the easiest. I injected the only part not covered by anything but fur." Henry checked this part, it was point of Carotid sinus, it was burnt in both sides,

"You injected one side or both sides." He checked it and found salt precipitated on its walls, and the same in the other side, " It was the weak point of the animal, salt in the saline not ionized, and the evidence was its precipitation, and salt conducted the electrical power of high level that vessel burnt at once, the main connection between the body and the head, and we didn't see this sight at any other vessel." Henry talked to Roberto and Claude.

"Any explanation is right yours or Roberto's?" Perez asked.

"Mine and Henry's explanations are right, but John explained the death cause, you wrote every thing?"

"Yeah" Perez replied. They went head to the last organ and the most important one, it was difficult to untie Platinum nails, they managed to dissociate some of them, however the spherical metallic cover didn't move from its place. It was the same magnetic force that attracts the other parts of body. They used the same way of that device. They succeeded in seeing the brain and it was impossible to see its anatomy, it was very complex and many sparks covered it and it was the only organ that was different from human's brain.

They closed every thing back to its place, they tied nails again. Actually they had general idea and enough information and they were satisfied by this anatomical report.

In the next morning, they were well dressed out the villa, directing towards the Mercedes car which was shining from its clean, as they called car clean centre after its repair.

They all got in the car and went to scientific research centre in Paris. Perez organized the report and made it wonderful in beautiful envelope. The general sight was brilliant.

Henry combed his fair hair on one side and wore his black suit like Alvarez and Claude. He seemed little stressed. Both of Roberto and Claude were laughing,

"What are you laughing at?"

They stopped and said," We were laughing at you, when you were using that device, shaking, your hair stood, your eyes dazzling, shivering. He looked at them angrily, while they continued their laugh. Henry covered his eyes by wearing his glasses, he looked very neat. The new driver stopped after reaching to their destination. They all stopped for a moment before entering, they discussed each other to arrange their word and talk. As soon as they had got in, the all in the scientific centre welcomed them, they were really famous.

Roberto told the secretary that they wanted to meet the manager for important matter. He got in, and then returned back,

"Mr. Bernie is waiting for you."

They entered and found themselves in front of simple man, wearing a white shirt and black trousers, Mr. Bernie looked little obese.

Roberto was holding the report, they sat on luxuriant seats, Henry started talking after Bernie's welcome "We have important report will make a rock in the scientific world."

Roberto handed the report to Mr. Bernie and continued, "Because it indicates other new creatures on earth differ from us."

"From other planet?" Bernie asked.

Perez replied, "It is a report about the electrical creature has unbelievable abilities in fox shape."

John went on "We want you do us a favour, I want you read this report thoroughly and publish it on internet under our names, we want any scientist in any scientific field contact us by sending e-mails, any one has information about that subject."

Alvarez added, " and we suggested in the end of research to hold scientific conference to discuss this case, we gave the subject big importance and you will, after its studying, please help us in our task."

Bernie drew a smile on his face and said, "It's an honour helping you, I promise I'll do my best, I will not only publish it on web, but I'll contact newspapers, the scientific ones to publish this report." He took a look inside report papers searching for something. "But I don't see your e-mail addresses; may I take yours to contribute in advertisement and your addresses besides post numbers?"

Perez replied, "With all our pleasure." He took a small paper from a notebook on the office and wrote down what he was asked for.

Then Bernie inquired, "Where would you like the conference to be done, what city I mean?" Perez answered,

"In the city where the international scientific researches centre, it is in Rome, that's what I think?"

Alvarez and Henry nodded agreeing.

Bernie replied," Okey I will work on it and called the internet employee. This report will be published through out website tomorrow, be ready."

"Yes sir." He called the employee responsible for press, in minute; he got in the manager office and saw the three scientists sitting. Hardly had he seen them, when he expressed about his pleasure to meet them.

Bernie ordered him, "I'd like you call all famous and scientific newspapers and let them send their reporters to the centre."

Employee: "Okey, sir, I'll do my best, but let me take autograph from their honours. Bernie smiled as usual and agreed. They gave the manager copy of the report, as they preferred to keep the original one with them.

Now, there is a measure of these animals appearance on this report coming up, will it be still secret, or every thing will be on every one's vision?

Chapter Eight

No secret anymore

The three scientists came back to the villa, and then slept to the next morning after this tiring work of fox's anatomy discovery that took all night.

They logged onto the website and found every thing was doing well, the report was published widely. He made sure that all scientific and famous newspapers took care of that subject. In the end, he read exciting headlines, they were," Death of twenty children and about fifty officers were lost in the USA." And there was another one saying, "The secret of the lost American and Icelandic planes." and "Big demonstrations in America." clicking on these headlines to know every thing in details.

The article of demonstrations said: "There is deep secret of losing that number of children and officers in the west of the USA in California. There are big demonstrations in Los Anglos that contained thousands of Americans asking their government for explanation. They wanted to question the ministry. There are trusted sources (refused to declare their names) ensured that there were 20 children, killed in California in a forest, and big number of officers were murdered at foot of mountain.

They added that some of FBI forces had their final moments on animals attack and others by falling from High Mountain, on Rocky series. The American secret was spread and its government, now in hot water, we will get the latest news, as soon as knowing anything new."

In the end, he read exciting headlines, they were," Death of twenty children and about fifty officers were lost in the USA." And there was another one saying, "The secret of the lost American and Icelandic planes." and "Big demonstrations in America."

At the end of the article, the English reporter was written. They saved it on the computer. He saw a picture of thousands people were in front of White House protesting against the government, wanting the truth.

Then he turned to the headline that was more exciting than the previous one, "The secret of losing the American and Icelandic planes." It said: "The planes crashes are mysterious accidents with unknown details, that was the information before, but the new was, Russian military sources proved that there was American plane for passengers, and it was smaller than the main one which did the flight 501, It was empty at first, but later passengers transported into it (Russian forces recognized the elephant with their radars supplied with infrared ray option.) they added it was safe without any harms. However Icelandic plane was destroyed in certain points, its tail and left wing, but its body was safe, there was not any dead, or marks of plane falling, but the difficult puzzle was, the pilot and his assistant found dead in the deep ocean. There is thought that the two air accidents were connected and causes were the same. And a proof ensures why the American aeroplane goes to the northern pole and the Icelandic go to the southern pole? Searching for the black box is current.

But is there connection between forest slaughter and planes destruction? This is the question." Article ended.

Door bell rang; Henry went and found it opened. It was smart and neat man. "Good morning, sir, I'm a reporter from Newsweek paper"

"You are welcome." John replied

"I will not take much time, do you think there is a relation between the air accidents or the forest and the report you published?" It was deep question.

John: yeah, I think so.

The reporter: Why?

John: Well you see their abilities enable them to do just miserable events, may be the cause of planes accidents.

The reporter: Where you got this animal?

John: in our way to the villa, we were about to die, but we had good luck.

He asked again: What weapon you used?

Henry: we used a syringe.

The reporter exclaimed: A syringe!?

John: we injected it, Perez he injected it with analgesic mixed with salty saline.

The reporter: These substances are not poison.

John: we wrote the explanation down in the report.

"Thank you, sir." The reporter said and left.

He came back into computer room, both of Perez and Alvarez were laughing, he didn't know the cause. His eyes were looking scornfully; he was indignant and asked, "What are you laughing at?"

Claude replied, "you know, these articles are supporting our invitation to the scientific conference as you read."

"I read, I didn't read any thing about this." He got closer to the screen and read (the three scientists invite their colleagues from the entire world to a scientific conference.) Under the headline, it was the article; it was about the decision of every country to its scientists for it.

"We did it and managed to hold the conference." Henry said and laughed.

Alvarez added, " We will be the managers of the conference because we warned the world of this danger, as they said, then we will get the credit and will be more famous."

Henry said quietly," What all you want the credit and fame?" and went on scornful look.

Roberto said with the same tone, "It is a result of good and hard work, these two goals are not something wrong or disadvantages, they are the fruits of our effort. We must go ahead to our work, now, there is not too much time to waste."

They were still on the web, and continued searching for more information about this animal and the conference. The international scientific research centre decided that the conference will be held after two weeks, it will include United States, all Europe countries besides China, South East Asia, Japan, Southern Korea, India as well as few from North Africa and Russia. Rome would be the core that would receive all these numbers of scientists.

Roberto logged into his e-mail address and found a message waiting for him, its subject was, "very very important". This title was not easy to be ignored, the sender was Maher Hassan.

"Very important,

I'm living in Egypt. I went to California to my friend; I was one of the two survivors of forest slaughter. I know the details of this accident, but I admire your work, you were the first to kill this animal. I hope you don't think foxes only have this description, all animals do, the wild and the domestic, I saw every thing with my eyes. Oh, I was about to forget to tell important thing. I was told by the second survivor, called Andy, she saw one dog staying in the rain under thunder and lightening looking to the sky even if these animals like water drops falling on their bodies. In my view, it is necessary to report you about this; it will be useful if you discussed that in the conference."

Then he described them with writing the forest adventure. The three collected to read this message, they gave big due to this e-mail because the animals' description was the same, and such fright events indicated their extraordinary power.

Small notice was at the end of the e-mail written in small size, "My father is one of the trusted sources, and he didn't tell his name."

They smiled," You know, now there is a proof for our scientific theory." Perez said.

When Henry asked him, "Do you trust this message?"

"Yeah, I have no reason to suspect him lying, he saw every thing."

While Alvarez added, "Yeah, I agree with you, what do you mean, Henry?"

"You must trust people, John and come on he described the animals as we saw." Perez persuaded his friend

"You are right, but we must keep these information on our hard disk." Henry said,

"You mean articles and the e-mail, yes we did it." Roberto said

"Okey, I will save them on a disk also."

"Wait look what I have found, another message to me it is (Dangerous secret), come on and read it with us." Perez said.

He opened it and was without a name or e-mail address. It said: "After greet, I'd like to tell you all these murders and slaughters because of our clients, or what you are calling "animals", I'd like to tell you, this name now is previous, in the past, but now they are other creatures. Actually I admit your extraordinary intelligence in destroying one of them. You must say who am I? And I will answer you, my colleagues and I am approximately the same of the electronic creatures, but we have the shape of human being. We are electronic guides that attract you (the human) to our clients to your death. I will tell you our description when we are in job time, we don't differ so far from those who defeated you, we have red laser eyes, and body consists of steal and wires, and finally our arms covered with crocodile armour, and I will explain you what's our method. We penetrate our arms into your bodies and put a tiny small electronic slide in your heart, then we get our hands out from your dirty blood, and the subject will not die as you imagine. And if we wanted to make the person normal again, we make that process again and recover our slide again, and what's the importance of this tiny slide? It is question running in your small minds; this electronic thing is enough to make changes from normal human to one like us. The last question you are asking, why we tell you our secrets? You know why? Because we trust our abilities to make no one of you living on this earth, and do what you can, we are not afraid. Bye"

It was warning from the first degree. Their facial features changed during and after reading, they were frowned, every one sat down disappointed, till Claude broke the silence, "You know, all officers were murdered except for one, he may be now an electronic guide."

Henry replied," Expect anyone is electronic spy, you can suspect me and Roberto."

"Yeah, you are right, John. It is a disaster. We are going in the war way, unequalled war."

"Where is the servant I need a cup of coffee, my head will blow up from headache." Perez shouted, but the servant didn't come, they searched for him every where in the villa, till they found its room door opened and found written paper on his desk.

(It is a message before leaving, I wrote you another one, and I think you have read it. Let me present myself to you honours, I'm the servant, I'm the sender of "Dangerous secret" I'm one of them, but I was ordered to leave after failure in my mission, I had to kill you to succeed in it.

I was the one who gave all information about the place and time you would be on board this dark road to the villa. But you surprised me when you brought my client dead. It was impossible for me to think of that, then I thought I should leave, however orders obliged me to stay with you to find out if you were right or wrong in your explanations and theories. Sadly, you were not almost wrong. But I need to tell you something that all you talked reached to my bosses, they know every thing. Sorry for this shock, I hope you longer life, hahaaaa.)

"Devil laugh from dirty spy." Roberto said.

Chapter Nine
The last battle

That message was the knife that killed the happiness in the scientist's chests.

"What we will do now?" Perez asked.

"I don't know." Henry replied.

"I can't think of anything, now." Roberto said, desperate tone appeared in their voices, sadness dominated their minds,

"You know, they are more dangerous, I mean the electronic guides, how we will recognize them, they…they seemed professional spies, reporting movements very accurately, that servant succeeded in deceiving us all that time."

"Yeah, you are eight, from this speech, we have read, they admitted their responsibility in the mysterious previous attacks, and another thing, I'd like to tell you." Henry added.

"What's that?" low voice from Alvarez.

"When the forest slaughter took place, it was in the west of America, the planes losing in the air in different far locations one in the northern pole and another in the southern pole, and these two places were suggested from the electronic guides, the last attack in Paris against us but they failed."

"What do you mean from all this?" Roberto asked.

"I mean they are international on land and in air."

"According to your suppositions" Claude said.

"I think, he is right, because there is no human can destroy certain parts of plane, then kidnap it to these strange destinations, it is previous designed plans, and it was carried out with its tiny details."

"We must send this information to the international scientific research centre." Roberto said. "And there we should work on finding a way to break this creature down and knowing electronic guides, and what the effective method to discover them is, and what weapon killing them, the electronic animals and guides."

"Let this optimistic tone away, it is not easy matter, remember all developed weapons of America failed to do so." Alvarez said,

"But we did it." John added.

Enthusiastic spirit came back again, "Okey, we suggest to advance the conference date."

"Yes, let's report Mr. Bernie."

Henry turned the computer on, and chatted with Bernie. He took only fifteen minutes, and returned back,

"He refused."

"Why?"

"I reported him about our suggestion, and I told him why, we have no time, and there is serious matter don't wait."

"And what he said?" Perez asked,

"He said, that all scientists will come from far countries, and if he advanced the conference time, number of scientists will decrease, but I told him that we need every one."

"Did you tell him about that serious matter?" Roberto asked,

"I will not make the same mistake again, may be that Bernie one of electronic guides? Well, finally he replied it's impossible, and I found no way." John ended.

"Oh I was about to forget, he will travel tomorrow to San Francisco in USA for special work." Henry added.

"I think it is useful idea, at least studying circumstances of accidents there." Roberto said.

"We will wait his return." Claude said.

In the next day 5:00 o'clock in the morning, the American flag was flapping under San Francisco sky, when strange movement was going on in Rocky Mountains behind; small stones were falling down on highway road. Big rocks followed them, huge ones following in succession, it was like mountain collapse ruins with its high sound spreading in the air, finally it finished. But caves resulted from rocks falling, few red eyes appeared at sudden moments, and hundreds of the same colour eyes came up from no where from inside the mountain.

Army of wolves and foxes ran downwards on Rocky surface releasing a terrifying sound with horrible sight, their pioneer and number were actual cause of saying so. They covered the mountain during their descent and covered the grassy land after their settlement.

Another mysterious sound among trees, they have been accompanied by rats, rabbits and cats, but this time they all were of the same gray colour, it was the army.

Another mysterious sound among trees, they have been accompanied by rats, rabbits and cats

They were hundreds, in just speedy moment, animals were moving, divided the gray army into equal teams got the oval shape, it was six teams, each one contained one hundred had equal number of animals species, arranged in rows. But this time had strange shape; they were fully armed with the suitable weapons of destroying anything, and killing man besides effective small machines for digging, tunnels and caves on their bodies.

The curious thing, that weapons were not seen before and fire steels were absent, the only thing that make the weapon shooting its endless ammunition was their brains, they are connected with electronic circles in their software minds which give the order to shot.

Laser arms were dug deep to the animals' bodies; however this laser is new, formed of mixture of x-rays and Ultraviolet rays. This kind can penetrate any wall and go through buildings; nothing can block its appearance till reaching to the goal, the human being. And another arm contained wide opening suitable for shooting small bombs characterized by chain reaction explosions just by simple hit. Their bodies were covered with irony cover except for two areas the head and neck. Another weapon on the animal's backbone, thick metallic tube connected to small store filled with bullets inside its body. It can launch two hundred shots in one push, and the one bullet size was fifteen mm of cylindrical shape.

Laser arm was on the right side, and the bombs arm was on its left side, their sizes were suitable enough not to affect negatively on their speed. Small animals were the only that didn't have any weapon at all, but still their qualities were perfect. They started to move terrifically, all steps were the same, for the same distance, the same in everything. They were full of energy and strength.

And stopped suddenly, then looked upwards then behind, there were many herds of different species of birds, pigeons besides the other beautiful flying creatures that rarely found, while eagles and vultures were the leaders. They constituted the air cover for the land army; about two hundreds of them were ready to destroy any plane or air force like the previous American and Icelandic planes.

They were also divided into teams have equal number of electronic birds. Eagles were ready to set off, like the leader tigers waiting the suitable time to order.

It was the same sight along the whole range of Rocky Mountains in the west of the USA. It will be easy to get in cities and towns of whole America on seeing their numbers and weapons.

Small animals got ready, then scattered everywhere and directed to their goals. They ran towards police stations, which were far from them about two hundreds kilometres. They took that distance in twenty minutes, hiding themselves as possible behind trees' trunks and building for keeping the sudden factor of attack, till they have reached.

"Look, these rats are awake till this late hour." One of soldiers guarding the gate released these words to his partner.

"Yeah, What dirty creatures!" They seemed tired and drunk. Two of the dirty creature ran in marvellous speed to the flattened wall, then climbed it and jumped on the two soldiers' back and neck.

Pain moans from the two men were from bites to the deep structures in the neck and back, till one mouse was able to get a larynx out, cutting all ligaments and muscles attached to it. After that cats and rabbits rushed into the police building through door and window glass, breaking any thing obstruct them. Absolutely, that worrying noise attracted officers' attention, and collected themselves facing cats and rabbits, that collected in two longitudinal rows and sat down on their hind limbs in front of American force. Rain of shots poured towards animals, fire bullets filled the place with high sound and false attack. Their store of shots ended, and there were about to replace new one when small animals stopped watching the attack and jumped towards soldiers and got their claws out and gave the seeing off look by their red eyes and pierced their knifes into neck transversely and left the station of safety leaving heroes to the slow death. It was perfect plan, carried out roughly in the same time in all states of west America. In front of San Francisco police station, two wolves were waiting the first animal force return. They were back and two citizens were staggering holding wine and sandwiches,

"Look, man, there...cats hungry, come on baby eat this sandwich." And laughed, but they stopped on seeing one of the two wolves looking to him by its laser eyes and directed bullet machine towards his chest and shot one push of big bullets. The two citizens received two hundred shots what made too many holes filled with blood and fell to the ground, breaking the glass of wine, which was mixed with its carrier blood.

Every thing was ready to the wolves role, they walked in confident slow steps placing their feet on the bloody ground and on the half-life soldier bodies cruelly. They were near to sending-receiving devices, opened their mouths and placed its vestibule, holding each device by shining teeth. They have adhered a small piece of explosives to each one enough to blow it up. Then climbed to the roof did the same to the radar. They looked to each other; suddenly they ran and jumped from the third floor to the ground by fixed steps. All bombs were ready to explode, but they waited for some time till one of wolves heard ringing tone from Infra-red signals contact device inside their bodies. It was the password of explosion, and really three constitutive explosions destroyed targets in one time, in many police stations belong to west of the United States of America.

they stopped on seeing one of the two wolves looking to him by its laser eyes

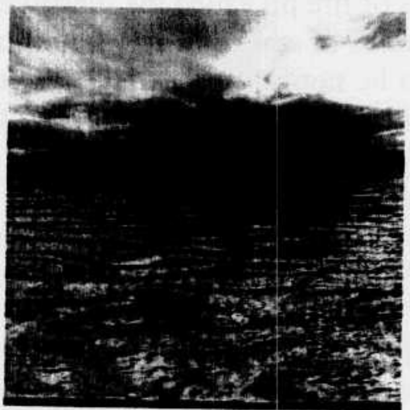

By that method, they broke off communication means especially main mobile network stations destroyed by herds of birds to keep attack still deep secret. Sudden to anyone would face it.

Masses of fire prevailed the sensitive locations and huge amounts of smoke filled California's sky, it was enough to be noticed but invalid, all communication systems were in ruins in just moment, they could not ask for help.

Vast area on one mountain apex, no centimetre, if it is occupied by one forelimb or hind limb of an animal. And a tiger was walking slowly in front of big army of foxes, come and back, it stood and looked right , the huge right team divided itself in five teams, and each one rushed into each cave, that leads to tunnel, foxes were running fast damaging any rock or stone in their dark tunnel. And their setting off speed was terrible. It was the same for the middle and left teams. This area was quite wide and contained about fifteen caves and tunnels whose end destination was known. The tiger descended down to lead California army.

Tunnel animals were still running, not tired as a machine contain hundred litres in their tank, and each team reached to different place, different states in United States of America. Each cave lead to certain tunnel and each tunnel was running underground to certain state. This underground map was previously made by electronic guides' thoughts. Of course, their destinations from the first moment were not blind. They chose the American states overlooking oceans and seas. The purpose was important because if they captured coastal states, they would cut supply lines from outside America and it was important matter for them.

huge amounts of smoke filled California's sky

Darkness still colouring the sky that was witnessing bird herds travelling and following the previous team. They were existed in Washington, Oregon, Texas, Louisiana, Florida, Georgia, South and North Carolina, Virginia and others.

They applied the same strategy in each state under their siege, central and big cities were the first to be attacked. By this method, they destroyed all headquarters for the same reason. For example, California State, electrical animals cut off its connection to anything.

President office in the white office, telephone rang, "Mr. President, we have serious, mysterious thing, almost coastal states fell of our radar's field. There must be something wrong."

"Detect it at once; I need an answer as soon as possible." Defense Minister said,

"Wait, Mr. President, rest of states are disappearing, till... Washington."

Contact was disconnected. All USA locations were lost at their watching radars, perfect plan was done, and now military army without any connection with each other...No organized forces against excellent organized electronic creatures. It seemed the start of end.

Now, all America was hidden captured, no one knew who did all this. And so the second task, all animals groups directing far from any big city to its edges, till they have reached to electrical stations, and worked their laser weapons. Infra-red and Ultraviolet lasers spread in space to penetrate workers there to turn them from blood and fleshy to just liquid on ground.

Explosives were put and let them explode. Station became fire mass and sparks flied everywhere when big explosion occurred, loud sound followed it and fire mixed with smoke up in the pure sky. After fifteen minutes, silver liquid with high viscosity and all animals, birds collected around the lake and drinking. That lake contained water of bombs, that liquid contained bomb components, after an hour, manufacturing them ends. They set off again to the centre of cities.

Sun rise ended and that time was eight o'clock in the morning, it was rush hour in roads, everyone was going to his work and it was the same hour when animals appeared on road covered with thick asphalt opposite cars direction. Running and running when asphalt was being broken under their feet, groups blocked the way and all vehicles stopped waiting their movement. No on moved from the two sides, cars engines worked again and moved their cars with the high gear, not caring about what would happen. They all expected one result, but they were wrong.

They waited blood spread on the road, while the result was crash and glass breaking besides animals' diving the steel and iron of vehicles that made some divide into two half, and went on running on cars' ceilings like dinosaurs age. When herds of birds launched many missiles to building and each was enough to destroy the highest skyscraper under sun rays and it was the first time to appear in the sunny light. And electrical animals continued cars destruction by their feet and turned on shot and laser weapons working towards human, melting them and destroying by chain reaction bombs besides continuous shot. Smoke covered the sky with gray colour and that time in San Francisco.

When they broke the famous bridge to divide the big city into two separated region. One region before the bridge (area 1), and another after it (area 2). Electronic creatures took destruction mission of area 1, and bird herds took area 2. After these terrible events every person hid in his house escaping from death. Area 1 was empty for the enemy work, nobody was out of his home and all shop markets were closed. They got in each way and placed a bomb on each house leaving it exploding one after one, till no home stilled on its normal case, all became burnt pieces and smoke. Sky scrapers were burnt metals and darkness came back after smoke has blocked the sun. Burnt houses contained body remains and blood. Roads contained dead bodies and injured men besides nothing from ambulance or firemen had their roles because they had the same destination of electrical and communication stations.

No resistance at all, few police vehicles comparing to the number and strength of attacking animals, few of wolves directed their speedy shot machine to fuel tanks made them flying from explosion power and fell as coal pieces. No one escaped from death in that area, San Francisco. However situation was different in area 2.

In watching tower, by zooming glasses,

"Sir, there are explosions right there, and flocks of birds are coming to area 2." The soldier said to the officer.

The news reached to the general's pilot "What will we do, now?" General said to the collected pilots in front of him.

"What you order, sir." One pilot said,

When another one said, "I have a suggestion, sir."

"Say" general ordered.

"I'm one from who saved the American plane. I think we should not stay in our place, because if these birds attacked us during our negative position, we would be ashes."

"You, think we should fly our planes."

"Yes sir." Bat pilot replied.

The general, "Okey, everyone goes to his location, get ready for taking off."

Fifteen air forces were in the air after half an hour. They were seeing flocks in air and people down on land running everywhere, fear appeared in their movements, blind doings without any thinking. Aero forces were in the air and police officers were on the buildings summits, elevating their sound, shouting to frightened people, they could not use their microphones because there was no electricity,

"Don't get in any building, spreading in the street, don't make collections, I repeat, don't make collections."

Really they ran everywhere and hid behind cars and transporting vehicles.

While fifteen military fighting planes were flying in the air like one mass towards bird flock lead by a black eagle in one group flying towards the air forces, they got closer the aeroplanes divided into three teams, each one contained five planes, that made birds' co-ordination and made use of this situation and shot missiles and rockets towards the flock, the air forces herd was the same type of flight 501 saving military planes. This attack start made them lose their balance for while, but they recovered it again fast. They have divided into three teams to form equivalent force to the human fighters. Men on land downwards were encouraging them.

Rockets and bombs had no effect on bird but balance losing each bird chased air force team, using the same method by smoke and missiles. Fighters did their best flying, turned over position and shot everything they had, till their weapons ended, really they were not ready. They were faster and more efficient weapons, but on their ending, these planes had no value. However Birds penetrated all explosions, missiles, rockets, all these weapons could not overcome the magnetic force besides they didn't shoot any bullet from shot machine under their wings and it was the only weapon they had and it was the only difference between the air war and kidnapping mission of American and Icelandic planes, as well as their solidity and speed.

More number defeats courage, wise words were applied in that battle. Air forces became naked, shooting some bullets to planes' fans and engines made them losing their balance, but the difference between human plane and electronic bird was the inability to recover it back. Air forces fell down like kites on streets and people getting away from the consecutive falling aeroplanes but invalid, explosions blew people spirits up. Many dead and many injured people without air cover. Electronic birds completed the mission; they were flying at lower level and shooting bullets, penetrating backs chests and heads, blood exploding to the air, and falling bombs from their beaks, their manufacturing end, that time was suitable for its use. They swept the land from any human. In few hours including chasing and hitting, no one was on his legs, all were lying on land dead or injured waiting death slowly. San Francisco ended its life by this attack.

In the USA capital Washington, everything was all right; they didn't know what happened in San Francisco. The same steps, destruction of electrical and communication stations, by another team of animals, they got in the city silently at the same time roughly, their fellows attacked San Francisco. But forces at borders reported the president to leave the White House by military air force besides all ministers and great people, indeed a helicopter left the Congruous at low level, till they have reached "Come on, we are late." President said.

"Welcome, sir."

"Hi, let's set off." He replied the private pilot.

"I will, sir." Pilot said and winked by his eyes to someone outside the plane, two wolves rushed into the plane and another fox from a side door, all dilated his eyes fissures and tears appeared, while the pilot was smiling to all of them including the giant body guards not afraid of them at all and dim light prevailed the atmosphere.

All muscular body guards exchanged their Ingrams with filled store and shooting. Fire was dense from weapons' openings and remains on ground, and noise bullets reflection from their metallic bodies, shot stores finished. They got out their shot guns and president, ministers trying to be out of the plane, but invalid. Animals were in front of all opened doors, there are others but the pilot (Their electronic guide) closed all of them but two through wolves and fox got in.

Shot guns ended, they have ended all their weapons but their muscles, can human muscles beat these creatures?

Animals answered this question, about twenty men ran towards animals that didn't use any weapon, just their claws. About six of body guards on just one animal, they all held their hind and forelimbs, body guards paralyzed each one but that incredible creature refused, it used its electrical and magnetic force when it shook and threw them away. They all flew and hit plane walls and so did the another wolf and fox. They have defeated muscular men and their turn to use their weapons has come.

They directed their shot machines to body guards, all bullets penetrated the safe protecting suit then penetrated their bodies hundreds of shots could get through ribs to reach to heart and lungs. They were all dead while all important persons hid behind seats; they thought they would not be seen. Laser eyes discovered their trick. They turned laser weapons on and moved their bodies slowly to direct Ultraviolet laser, the strongest laser to them. President was behind seat and seeing bubbles getting from his skin, it was boiling from heat and felt his head in fire, it was burning and melting, even bones of skull could not stand, eyeballs fell off, and his body skin was the same of head's, organs destroyed, all from this harmful rays. They have directed the laser for enough time to turn these persons to remains of liquid, they were not satisfied, but they added scornful look to them and left with the smiling electronic guide outside to the air. America is without any leader after this attack.

Herds spread on the land destroying cars by chain reaction bombs, melting people, placing explosives in skyscrapers. Explosions, smoke, ruins dominated the city, eventually military tanks came up on roads and streets facing animals shooting missiles and bombs, exploding on animals, nothing new happened, only sparks scattered, just sight and sound of explosions and no effect. Due to narrow roads, there was no space for tanks collection; it was just row, tank in front of one and etc. No infantry soldiers were fighting according to army orders. Peace sound has gone.

Animals lead by a tiger had found the perfect method to overcome their location problem, they were easy target to tank, however they made no sense, and at least they were delaying their mission. They took a side way, they climbed the burnt buildings, then jumping on tanks throwing bombs from that weapon, just moments all these tanks were blown up to hell.. Washington became another colony to animals' force after destroying everything.

Scenario did not change much, all states were under this flooding attack, fire and explosions spread in USA, the great empire was domestic prey to the angry enemy, the machine anger.

California, Los Anglos, James was running on stairs rushing to TV and satellite. After turning them on, he was holding the remote control trying to catch any channel of the American set, he couldn't find any in any American satellite. Hopeless accompanied him for a while; however he was able to find news channel in European satellite. Images of Invasion on America appearing on screen and he put his face between his two hands, disappointed sight attracted attention of his father.

"What's up, James?"

"Look, dad."

Mr. Kerulen looked to TV and noticed destruction and comment written on the screen, "USA is being attacked and we are witnessing the last moments of this great empire."

"Okey, let's pick our most important stuff in our bags." His father said.

He set off and ran upwards and pulled his son with him,

"We must go now, Andy, Monika."

"To where Dad?" Andy asked shouting.

"Out of America."

"Why?" Monika asked, all were following him, and gave them brief explanation,

"Animals that attacked you in the camp are destroying whole America, now."

"Which attack? There wasn't anything strange in the camp."

"It is so long to talk to you about it, we don't have much time."

In Fifteen minutes everything was ready; they got in their car and started with maximum pioneer.

"Dad, take side short roads to the nearest coast, it is our only way to escape."

They were on ocean land, and found many boats there, nothing else. They managed to sail away of land leaving their home and country to the nearest island and sundown rays. Darkness was about to send its clouds on California.

Army got in Los Anglos, the last city in America after more that twelve hours. Communication centres were destroyed as usual besides electricity production centres, and population and trade regions were the next target. Los Anglos was of normal condition, the only fearing thing was cutting off electrical current. Anarchy spread, and they got in putting explosives inside buildings, the silver liquid was very effective. Fire was filling any building; animals' speed was the factor. Flocks of birds were covering their land friends, and few tanks were in front of the tiger leading the organized herd. It made the necessary strategic changes in the animals' position, right transported to left and vice versa, the front became behind, these speedy movement disturbed them while tanks were shooting their missiles blindly, and in moments wolves and foxes and jumped on these tanks and exploded them all. No one had thoughts like Kerulen's and actually it was impossible to take wise decision among this whole destruction and stress, besides being James family was living in a house near sea far away from city centre.

"Thanks to god, we are away now; look air forces are falling like flies." Andy said looking to tiny vehicles.

"How you knew there is something wrong?"

James solved the mystery to his father. "I noticed, there was no network in my mobile or Andy's even our home telephones, and that was the same in the lost American plane as Maher told me, so I made sure when I saw channels have no signal and European satellites illustrated every thing."

"You are smart man, James." His mother said.

Water waves were playing with the simple wooden boat, and Mr. Kerulen and his son were rowing, but happiness didn't complete.

Sight of birds moving their wings directing to them, and many foxes were running madly on beach sand breaking any wooden box in front of them along the sea and dust was coming up, till its stopping with animals stop, and laser eyes were staring at them.

No time passed when they found themselves under shade of the flock, birds were above them exactly, looking to them, what will they do?

"Jump" Kerulen shouted.

At once they did, they were under water surface after taking deep inspiration, staying and staying, but it was must to get out their head out of water for oxygen. Really, that happened, they took long sigh with a breath, they were all together, seeing off the blacked colour sea, bird bent their wings down that carries shot machine under its surface, leader eagle looked revenge to them and rain, rain of shooting bullets flew down in air penetrated water and got inside their bodies, that amount of bullets shook their bodies, and blood flooded to colour the water with dark red. Their bodies were pierced with many holes. They floated on water and spirits were still present, but they eventually left and sank down dead. It was miserable actual end to brave family had many fighting rounds with this obstinate enemy.

They seemed the last humans in America.

By this savagery, they crushed all states. They used pressing strategy. In other words, they attacked by eastern forces which were divided into groups have the same number of eastern states. Western forces like the eastern, but against the western states, they were destroying and capturing areas and cities. While the southern forces had a different goal, but they achieved it by the same way, they managed not to give the chance to escape. Many could run away from the northern American states to Canada.

Canadian border officer,

"Let them in."

And people were thanking them by words

"But wait, you must carry this bag to allow you in."

Their boss said, Americans ran to all officers carrying this small black bag,

"Your identity card, please."

They searched and were about to hand it, but a low snake voice,

"Come to papa" each one saw metallic man had red eyes and many wires. Electronic guides fell people in their hands by pretending good treatment; however on putting the electronic slide, they were turned to electronic spies like them.

They didn't satisfy by that domination only, but they made sure of it. They launched many rockets and missiles from unknown launchers place and species. They had microbiological creatures in their heads like viruses and bacteria besides chemical structures that are the perfect medium for cancer and other rare disorders. The humans didn't die by this invasion, would suffer till death, and distribution of that last hit was equal as usual. And USA became the home of these creatures, going here and over there, and had become their appearing centre and headquarters. They chose the greatest empire in transistor age to show their abilities and strength to the whole world, that country was the greatest before that sweeping attack, but after it was nothing.

European satellites were able to get film about America after destruction. Images were explaining themselves, no comment. Besides ruins pictures, they reported animals alive on ground and shower their speed and power. All newspapers filled their first pages with this film details beside the previous empire kidnapping attack.

And everything was secret one day; its revealing became a reality, about planes destruction and forest slaughter.

Another piece of news took scientists' attention; it was advancing the conference date after making sure of manager of International Scientific Research Centre and Mr. Bernie, the manager of Paris centre were electronic guides. Their sudden disappearance before hours of attack was suspect, and it was ensured after leaving a message telling the world that they deceived the most intelligent people on earth.

All TV channels showed John Henry speech, "I think, we have different species of creatures from that time, they really have incredible abilities, they could adapt with all conditions, they have more developed weapons than we expected, they...(He took sad sigh) they are more intelligent than we thought, and here is the proof, they chose the strongest country in the world and defeated it less than twenty four hours, it really catastrophe (And few tears escaped and ran on his cheek were dried with his handkerchief). It is not a far possibility that any country or any continent to be surprised by this anger.

It is our role, scientists, must collect ourselves as fast as we can without a manager or organizer or these routine matters, saving world is on our shoulders. I'm sure, there are electronic spies among us, and I'd like them to tell their bosses, that we will defeat you, wait man's return.

Big rock shook the world, United Nations invited all countries have disputes of wars to cooperate and end all these problems for man's species sake on earth. All negotiations and reconciliation were held in Tokyo instead of New York. It was wonderful to see presidents of two countries were in war for long time, shaking hands. Even Insider disputes in Africa were solved by France interference in settling and making it good life for poor people. They provided these developing countries with food, medicine and all necessary devices and tools, expensive or cheap.

Worldwide Union, it was union held and included all world continents and Islands. It took peaceful symbol avoiding violence and terrorism, it contained the crescent to indicate for Islam religion, cross to indicate for Christian religion, David's star to indicate for Jewish religion, Flag of that Union included all symbols of all continents and the religious symbols in the middle.

All these changes took recording time and ended peacefully. They made world live under one flag, seeking for one goal. against one enemy. It would be the victory start against machine anger.

